

www.nazigassings.com

Introduction

There are NO autopsy reports of Nazi gassing victims. There are NO autopsy reports that show even one body found anywhere was of someone killed with poison gas by the Nazis or Germans. Many thousands of bodies were found in German concentration camps by the end of the war, (they clearly had NOT all gone up in smoke at all) and at least a thousand were autopsied—but, none of the autopsies indicated poisoning by any substance. This simple fact should already undermine anyone's belief that the "holocaust" story is supported by "overwhelming evidence." Please see the discussion, column left, of Dr. Charles P. Larson's forensic medical examinations in Dachau and elsewhere. The British at Belsen seemed to have recognized early on (based on their own autopsies?) that there had been no gassings there either but, nonetheless, made the gassing charges central in their famous Belsen Trial \(Sept. 17—Oct 16, 1945\). See also The Belsen Trial in pdf format which allows any reader to jump to keywords in the text such as "gas." for example. Those gassing claims pertained, however, entirely to what had supposedly occurred in Auschwitz to which British judges, prosecutors and staff were denied access by the Soviets until many years later. The gassing claims and even the descriptions of Auschwitz are based entirely on the "testimony" of self-described "witnesses" and NOT on any incriminating documents or physical evidence. It is as if people had been tried and executed for witchcraft hundreds of years ago—in a remote foreign country to which even the inquisitors had no access..

There are NO German documents identifying any gassing victims. The belief that the gassing claims are supported by German documents is pure myth. There are NO German documents describing any gassings, anywhere. The German documents that are most frequently used, for example of Zyklon-B disinfection gas chambers and crematoria, are in fact evidence of structures and equipment designed and used to keep people alive--in other words, for precisely the opposite purpose from what is alleged.

Claims about how the Nazi gas chambers functioned are wild speculation.

The alleged gas chambers bear absolutely NO resemblance to real, known gas chambers such as those widely used in the USA for the execution of criminals where it still takes as long as 18 minutes to kill a single prisoner as opposed to the fictitious Nazi gas chambers where thousands were supposedly murdered in as few as three minutes. What is more important, they could not possibly have worked in anything like the manner alleged in any of the holocaust-related war crimes trials. Gassing someone to death, even one person, is a complicated messy process that takes as long as eighteen minutes in the USA.

There are NO photographs of corpses of Nazi gassing victims. What really makes the hoax work are the pictures of countless sick and dead in the camps at the end of the war—none of which are of people killed in gas chambers. The people who show those pictures know perfectly well they are of people who died of other causes such as typhus—but use them for their powerful psychological effect to precondition their audience for the gassing and mass extermination pitch which inevitably follows. The pictures are irrelevant except for their shock value. Pictures of countless healthy prisoners in the same camps are generally not shown for reasons that are all too obvious. This misuse of photographs is rather widespread and illustrates the collective eagerness of many people (the "hoaxers"), especially in the American media, to throw whatever they can find against the Nazis, SS and Germans generally.

Americans are not used to seeing what death really looks like even when it occurs around them every day. Only rarely will the hoax promoters make the mistake of actually alleging that they have a picture of someone killed in a gas chamber. They know better but misuse the pictures anyway—because they have nothing better. The pictures cover up the fact that the "evidence" for gassings and mass extermination is minuscule. This deliberate misuse of pictures already shows the sinister and widespread hoakery which makes the hoax so successful. Who even reads courtroom testimony of self-described "eyewitnesses?" Who even reads the writings of Elie Wiesel? It is the pictures that grab the hearts and minds.. For most people when they see the pictures, what else matters? The accused are guilty, guilty, guilty! By contrast, pictures of the vastly greater numbers of Germans or other Axis civilians murdered by Allied terror-bombing raids or from disease or starvation (also caused by the Allies) are almost impossible to find. Why? Why bother? The goal is not understanding or historical truth. The goal is fanatical belief in the new religion, even by children—with no tolerance for those who dare to disbelieve or even question.

The really "incriminating" evidence consists entirely of "eyewitness accounts" (lies) and "confessions" (lies extracted under torture) and a few documents which provide nothing more than food for wild speculations.

The fascination with crematoria in German concentration camps merely shows how incredibly desperate the hoax promoters are to find anything that looks remotely like "evidence." The Kremas used normal crematoria ovens designed to only cremate one body at a time consistent with cremation practice throughout the world. The insistence that there was anything sinister about those crematoria is sheer stupidity. Their use helped keep people alive! For simple mass disposal of corpses, cremation makes no sense at all. For that, incineration with co-mingling of the ash of many corpses is far more logical, and efficient, and faster . The Germans had large incinerators for garbage, in some cases in the very same buildings where crematory ovens were also used—but NEVER allegedly used those garbage incinerators to dispose of any corpses.

The words "pure evil" are frequently used to describe the Nazis, and Hitler, and the SS, and even Germans of that era in general. I suggest that people who do that look at themselves in the mirror. Even if the "holocaust" were true, the mass atrocities committed by the US and Britain were far worse and far more cowardly than anything the Nazis are even accused of. The US and Britain murdered as many people as they possibly could by deliberately r-o-a-s-t-i-n-g them to death with massive incendiary air attacks ("strategic bombing"), then with napalm, and even with nuclear bombs. The intensity of those horrors grew as the dangers to the US and Briain diminished to nothing at all. If the Nazis had murdered people with poison gas, that would have been humane by comparison. There is no doubt in this writert's mind that one motive for the holocaust hoax is to rationalize the far more heinous and shameful crimes of the US and Britain. Perhaps the real monsters of WW2 have a conscience, if only an extremely primitive one. When the victors were no longer able to simply murder Germans or "Japs" after the war had ended--they were still able to lie about the Germans and that continues to this day. Who is left to stop them? The Jews, of course, are also driven by boundless greed as well as a need to rationalize their racist state of Israel.

The Total Number of Jews Gassed by the Nazis is: ZERO!

The grand total number of Jews, Poles, Gypsies and others killed in Nazi gas chambers is ZERO! There was a kind of “holocaust” in German concentration camps, especially in the last months of the war, from disease and starvation. However, the culprits responsible for those horrors were the Allies, especially the US and Britain, using blockade, bombing and strafing of civilians—and NOT the Nazis at all. The Nazis had been trying to keep their concentration camp inmates alive and healthy as best they could under impossible circumstances. If the Nazis had merely wanted to exterminate prisoners, there would have been no need for concentration camps to begin with. The real mass murderers were the Americans and Brits. The “Greatest Generation” was, and still is, the worst generation ever, anywhere, in all of human history. Even though the USA was far removed from the actual conflict and never in any real danger, it gratuitously chose to employ mass murder by incineration of civilians as its key strategy for victory. The USA and Britain deliberately roasted women, children and babies to death—as many as they possibly could. There were well over a million victims of these cowardly and horrific crimes. If Americans ever want to “hunt down” real mass murderers and war criminals, they need only look at themselves in the mirror.

Holocaust-belief is a kind of modern superstition, not unlike superstition in the Middle Ages when Jews were sometimes blamed for plague and severely persecuted. But today, it is the Jews who are blaming and persecuting gentiles, especially Germans, for the many deaths from disease at the end of an horrific war which they themselves had done so much to bring about. They were screaming for war against Germany already in March of 1933, in huge demonstrations on the streets of New York and elsewhere. They were continuously agitating for war against Germany until their wishes actually came true in September of 1939. The horrible deaths from disease in German concentration camps were a direct result of the cowardly air attacks on German civilians which Jews themselves had encouraged. The German people are routinely portrayed as having been morally defective somehow and, therefore, worthy of mass murder. In the process of murdering German civilians, many Jews died also—how ironic! Holocaust-believers totally ignore the deep involvement of Jews with the communist revolutions and the horrors which necessarily followed in order to try to make those revolutions work. Anti-Semitism was a natural and entirely reasonable response to the Jewish role in extreme leftist causes, including Soviet style communism where mass murder of any and all opposition was accepted as entirely normal to advance the "glorious" revolution. If Jews or any other ethnic group were as closely connected to Al Qaeda and the horror of 9/11, most people would understand perfectly. The horrors of communism already in the 1920's were far worse.

For all their cheering about "democracy" and "freedom," the "real Nazis" were, and still are, the Americans. The "real terrorists" were, and still are, the Americans. The ultimate racist fiends and genocidal maniacs were, and still are the Americans.

Next in line are the Israelis and Jews generally. If Americans and/or Jews wish to see or confront "pure evil," they can spare themselves the airfare to faraway places like

Germany, Iraq or Afghanistan and simply look at themselves and their own history. A recent book by Judge Andrew P. Napolitano entitled: Lies the Government Told You (2010) reveals many of the dirty secrets that Americans deny about themselves. From its earliest days when George Washington mutilated his own slaves until now when even the Obama administration tortures prisoners, America's true history is so foul that it has no moral standing to lecture anyone about human rights—or anything else. As to evidence for the genocidal depravity of Jews, one should simply read the Old Testament. Samuel T. Cohen, the inventor of the neutron bomb, “stated that his only regret ...was that the bomb hadn't been ready in time to be dropped on Germany. This was a feeling shared by many Jewish scientists, Cohen wrote.” Although Germany was spared the nuclear nightmare, what the western Allies actually did to Germany was bad enough. The following is from Cohen's book: F You. Mr. President, page 31:

This was particularly true for most Jewish scientists, and there were a lot of them, including Oppenheimer. Many of them were refugees from Hitler, whose friends and relatives had suffered hideously at his hands, and who harbored precious little affection for the Nazis. They had a vindictive and even barbaric compulsion to complete the project in time to bomb Germany. Of course, this never happened and when we finally had a couple of bombs to drop, Germany had surrendered.

Trying to throw a little logic into this emotionally supercharged equation, I might say that even if we had finished in time to drop a couple of bombs on Germany, it's far from clear it would have made any real difference on the outcome of the war. By this time, the allied bombing and shelling of cities had reduced most of the country to rubble and it was just a matter of time, a very short time, before the Nazis would have given up. It had become clear to practically everyone but Hitler that the jig was up. Most Germans were in no mood to fight to the bitter end, as many were predicting the Japanese would do.

*German
So what might have happened if the atomic bombs that burst over Hiroshima and Nagasaki, had landed on Zilchburg and Hinkledorf? I'd say: What happened.
Undoubtedly nuclear bombing Germany would have made many scientists at Los Alamos, especially the Jews, including myself, deliriously happy....*

From the moment Hitler became chancellor of Germany in 1933 six years before WW2 started, intense Jewish agitation against Germany became well known to everyone. Such activities included boycotting of ALL German goods to the United States. The following images are from The Jewish War Veterans Story by Gloria R. Mosesson (1971) but there are many more sources if one examines the pre-war literature in America. Click images below to enlarge recognize the menace of Hitler for what it was, and to take decisive action to fight Nazism wherever they would find it. There had been Jews who had questioned the need for a Jewish veterans organization, who had suggested that its same functions could be more than adequately handled by American veterans' organizations or the rest of the Jewish community. But for that matter, why then have Jewish hospitals or Jewish employment services? The answers are as obvious as the answer about J.W.V.—none other than a Jewish veterans' organization could straddle the communal scene and effectively coordinate the interests of Jews, of veterans, and Americans.

It is noteworthy that this attitude carries over to Jews who are afraid to put their efforts to positive and constructive community contributions because they are afraid to be labeled Jewish for fear of inciting anti-Semitism. They seem to feel that anonymity will shield them from anti-Semitism.

J.W.V. members waiting near City Hall in New York before the start of the March 23, 1933, anti-Nazi protest.

Hitler was to teach them a quite different lesson by his thoroughness in rounding up and destroying by the thousands German Jews who had fled their Jewishness in the protective coloration of being good Germans.

But when, early in 1933, National Commander J. George Fredman proposed a boycott of German-made imports, and J.W.V. adopted it as a national policy and became a part of an international boycott effort, it was almost alone among American Jewish organizations to do so. Many of the others seemed to feel they would be accused of putting their Jewishness before their Americanism. Soon afterward, however, other Jewish organizations did join the boycott. Simultaneously, J.W.V. also turned its attention to fighting the growth of Hitlerism and spreading anti-Semitism in the United States.

The boycott and anti-German activity were, in fact, to spur a tremendous growth on the part of J.W.V. Not only did thousands of World War I veterans flock to join existing posts, but they served as the nucleus for new posts all over, so that the national body grew geographically as well as numerically.

Actually, the boycott was "kicked off" by a mammoth parade under J.W.V. sponsorship, held in New York on March 23, 1933, on three days' notice. Abraham Kraditor, who was to become National Commander, was parade marshal. Somehow or other, in those three days prominent sponsors were solicited, the American Legion, V.F.W., Palestine Legionnaires, and delegates from many fraternal, social and commercial organizations joined, and, of course, the J.W.V. Ladies Auxiliary, too.

The parade route, which led to City Hall, was lined with almost a million people. Commander Fredman presented an anti-Nazi resolution to New York's Mayor John O'Brien, who stated: "Any regime which encourages religious intolerance as its basis must and will meet with the moral opposition of the entire world." Then Commander Fredman and his staff, together with the Mayor, reviewed the parade from the steps of City Hall.

The boycott tactics were many and varied. There were more parades, meetings, solicitation of help from other Jewish groups, boycott stamps and all kinds of reminders, like book matches, about the boycott. Lists of substitute products for German imports were made up, cheaters who removed German labels and sold their goods as American items were apprehended, and even the National City Bank was petitioned not to make a proposed loan to Germany. Constant vigilance led to an ever-decreasing number of German imports.

William Bobier of Phoenix, Arizona (formerly of Cleveland, Ohio), recalls that J.W.V. members worked with the Federal Bureau of Investigation in giving information on German-American Bund members, backers, meetings and activities.

This protest against Hitler's regime, the first public one in the United States, was actually spurred by the inertia of American Jews in taking any action in the face of the stories of brutality and oppression against German Jewry. It was an indication of farsightedness, moral courage, and forthright action on the part of J.W.V.

It is interesting to note some of the consequences of the boycott and corollary work. For instance, by November, 1933, Woolworth's had already discontinued the sale of some three hundred fifty items imported from Germany. J.W.V. petitioned the United States Olympic Committee not to participate in the upcoming 1936 Olympics, scheduled to be held in Berlin. This was an ongoing struggle, and by 1935, the

A view of the gigantic anti-Nazi parade led by J.W.V. on March 23, 1933.

F.W. Woolworth was a large importer of German novelty items, but by the end of 1933, it had discontinued the importation and sale of more than 350 items, thanks to the kind of J.W.V. picketing shown here.

American Legion was cooperating with the J.W.V. in opposing United States entry in the games.

But perhaps the most important aspect of the entire program was its impact in awakening the Jewish and American communities to the threat of Nazi Germany, not only to Jews, but to all freedom-loving peoples. It was the avowed aim of the Nazis to spread their totalitarian doctrines throughout the United States, through such groups as William Pelley's Silver Shirts, the Christian Front, the German-American Bund, and the preachings of Father Coughlin, Gerald L.K. Smith, and others like them. Not only did J.W.V., as an organization, root out and publicly expose these dangerous policies, but individual members fought them in a variety of ways.

For instance, J.W.V. members were always quick to point out to onlookers that when the German-American Bund marched, only German flags were displayed, not American ones. When J.W.V. members attended meetings, like the American Legion, this was again quietly pointed out—and so was the ever-present Nazi salute. The Nazis' aggressive, warlike hate-mongering statements were also publicized in appropriate ways. And the American community began to get the message—Hitler was not only bad for Jews; he was bad for America!

In St. Louis, Missouri, which had a large German-American population, and was a center for the Bund and Gerald L.K.

In 1938, the boycott of German goods was still going strong. This exhibit was part of the National Convention in Detroit, Michigan, that year.

- Organised Jewry fired the first shot already in March 1933 in the war against Germany.
- The Germans in 1933 were behaving reasonably by defending themselves from the enemy within by introducing anti-Jewish legislation.
- The Jews are unashamed, congenial liars. There was no plan to exterminate them.
- When the fighting war began, the Germans were perfectly within their rights to protect themselves by placing Jews in concentration camps.
- Jewish scheming led to WWII. Jews should be very grateful the Germans treated them so humanely during the period 1933-1945.

The Anglo-American Holocaust in Belsen and Dachau

The real truth about the “holocaust” is far more than Americans can bear. They will not be able to handle it because it is they, the Americans and Brits, who are the chief culprits—the real “holocaust perpetrators.”

Those horrible photographs of Belsen and Dachau and other German concentration camps from the last two months of the war are enormously important. They are the real basis, the “undeniable evidence” for the “holocaust” as far as nearly everyone is concerned. By contrast, the “evidence” from war crimes trials and the arguments of scholars, even revisionists, are largely unknown and even incomprehensible to nearly everyone. But, instead of showing how horrible war truly is in general, the images are grossly misused to condemn the very people, the Germans in general and the SS and Nazis in particular, who had gone to enormous lengths to prevent such horrors. The real mass murderers were the Americans and Brits.

When historians and journalists insist that the scenes from Belsen and Dachau are aberrations from a more acceptable kind of the warfare, they are the greatest liars.

They are simply massaging the egos of their depraved patrons, the victors of World War 2. Those misused scenes show essentially the same horrors that abound in nearly every war going back to siege warfare from our earliest human history. For WW2, the horrible scenes in Belsen and Dachau were the direct result of the cowardly blockade beginning the moment Britain declared war on Germany and the deliberate bombing of civilians (begun by the British on May 11, 1940) and the strafing of civilian targets throughout most of the war. Even Germany's water supply had been proudly bombed by the British in 1943 —the Dambusters Raid [achieved the horrible results that one could see throughout Germany. The immediate cause of death for the vast majority of genuine victims in German concentration camps was disease, especially the kinds of disease that waste the entire human body \(typhus, typhoid, tuberculosis, diarrhea, dysentery\)—and the Anglo-Americans knew that perfectly well since they had studied and ruthlessly employed that same strategy many times in the past, even for the period after the 1918 Armistice to force Germany to sign the Versailles Treaty six months later against its will after 500,000 German civilians had died from disease and starvation from the blockade. But after WW2, rather than admit that they had inadvertently also killed thousands of Jews with their cowardly strategy, the embarrassed Americans and Brits blamed the Germans instead. They had, after all, won the war and could get away with anything.](http://webcache.googleusercontent.com/search?q=cache:wIgvfuhMbPcJ:news.bbc.co.uk/onthisday/hi/dates/stories/may/17/newsid_3623000/3623223.stm+Germany+ -- with obvious consequences; it was biological warfare. Eventually, with America's involvement and overwhelming air power, those clever strategies<div data-bbox=)

The horrors that the US and Britain inflicted upon civilians would have been bad enough if WW2 had been the end. But such horrors continued--even with the deliberate roasting to death of more than a million totally innocent women, children and babies as in Korea and Vietnam. In Iraq, the US sanctions strategy may have killed half-a-million children which Madeline Albright assured Americans was OK on "60 minutes." Israeli sanctions against the people of Gaza are essentially blessed and funded by the US. And there is no end in sight. If Americans or Brits want to hunt down and punish real perpetrators, real "killers," real mass murderers —they need only look at themselves in the mirror and then hang themselves from the nearest tree.

The NAZI's Kept the Jews A-L-I-V-E !

.On YouTube there is a fascinating new video which is drawing some interest--including comments from me:

<http://www.youtube.com/user/AliceTheFilm>

Take a look, not just for the story of 106-year-old Alice Sommer but also for the revealing footage of life in Theresienstadt. If that was all staged by the Nazis, then they deserve some Oscars for "direction." Two other Czech Jewesses, not quite as old, also appear in this video. They ALL "survived!"

It is time to say "THANK YOU" to the Nazis! Obviously, Alice Sommer's wartime ordeals, whatever they were, had no adverse effect on her longevity. Obviously, the Nazis took very good care of her as well as all of the others..That is the real lesson of this story. The Nazis did NOT exterminate them. Alice Sommers is clear evidence that the "holocaust" story really is a monstrous Jewish hoax for which ALL Jews should apologize. Jews have nothing to cry or whine about--and they should give back all the money they swindled out of the German people, their victims.

The Nazis kept the Jews alive! Alice Sommer and the other Jews in this video could have been killed so easily. Did they "survive" because of their religion, or music, or because of some inner strength? Of course, not! They ALL "survived": because the Nazis protected them and kept them alive just as they kept most of the Jews alive. The so-called "survivors"--and there were 1,092,000 of them still alive in 2003 according to Dr. Sergio DellaPergola--are all evidence that the "Holocaust" really is a monstrous Jewish hoax. The real killers of most of the Jews who did die on German-occupied territory were the Allies, especially the British and Americans, who strafed and bombed refugees and evacuees and civilians generally throughout the last months of the war--and disease, especially typhus, brought on largely because of the failure of the Germans to hold on to places like Auschwitz.

Auschwitz served the exact same purpose as Ellis Island in NY harbor: to keep disease out of the country with medical exams, forced bathing, quarantine, gas chambers and crematoria just as in Auschwitz. When the Germans evacuated Auschwitz and abandoned it to the advancing Russians in mid-January 1945, the dam broke (the Cordon Sanitaire) and disease, especially typhus, entered Germany with a vengeance that had not been seen since the Thirty Years War.

The Germans still tried to confine the medical disaster to the concentration camps with horrible results that made excellent visual propaganda for the true genocidal maniacs: the Allied victors of WW2--and especially the Jews. If the Germans had not tried to confine the typhus outbreak to concentration camps such as Dachau and Bergen-Belsen, the consequences would have been even worse just as the victors discovered quickly enough for themselves. The death rate at Bergen-Belsen actually increased after the British took over the camp and quickly spread beyond the camp until the British re-imposed tight security on all of the camp inmates.

The real reason Alice Sommer and the others "survived" is that the Nazis never tried to kill her, or any of the others, in the first place. That should be rather obvious. She NEVER was under any kind of "gallows." Instead, the Nazis kept her alive, fed her, provided her with housing, medical care and safety as best they could while millions of people around her, including millions of Germans who were and still are the real victims of videos like this one, were being killed and even burned alive in the war that Jews had done so much to bring about. Alice's "story" is essentially a Big LIE! When the Nazis tried to expel her and others like her from the new, saner Europe that they tried to build, they certainly had the right idea.

Holocaust propaganda, regardless of its historical merit, is used to justify the real atrocities and mass murders by the victors of WW2 which were far more horrific than anything the Germans or Japanese supposedly committed. But, from the prevailing American point of view, those horrors—especially the mass incinerations of women, children and babies—were merely unfortunate but morally necessary measures to achieve “peace” with democracy and freedom. America consistently externalizes its own problems. All the moral problems for which America went to war against Japan and Germany were rampant in the USA—and still are. If America and its allies could recognize that the holocaust story is indeed a monstrous Jewish hoax, then perhaps America and the world could also avoid the headlong stampede to bigger wars and, ultimately, obliteration in a thermo-nuclear world war, the ultimate final solution..

Many tens of thousands of Jews were indeed victims of an “extermination program” from the air during WW2—but, Jews were not the target, they were merely some of what is now called “collateral damage.” All of the treks west by millions of civilians to escape the Russians were potential “death marches.” The real targets and the real victims of an extermination program were the Germans. So long as the women and children murdered by American “heroes” like Chuck Yeager were merely Germans—no need to apologize afterward. But, when many of them were Jews, that had to be explained differently even if just to avoid lawsuits for generations to come.

Hey, why not blame the Germans? What America actually did during WW2 was truly monstrous—but that such a country, even sixty years after the war, continues to strut on the world stage as a symbol of righteousness is beyond insane. Don't these folks have any conscience at all? America in WW2 committed the most despicable and cowardly rampage of mass murder in all of human history. If there were a God who gave a damn about punishing evil-doers, he would surely destroy America from sea to shining sea with flamethrowers. Americans should pray there is no God.

The holocaust story is a monstrous hoax for four important reasons: 1) no one was ever killed in gas chambers by the Nazis, 2) the numbers of Jews who died in German-occupied Europe is minuscule compared to what is alleged, 3) forensic medical or scientific evidence to support the holocaust gassing claims is non-existent, and 4) Jews were rather well-treated by the Nazis compared with other minorities such as blacks, Hispanics or American Indians in the USA—or non-whites by the British Empire, or Palestinians by Israel. In general, Jews as a group, or as a people, or as a race (take your pick) have no reason to complain about their treatment by Nazi Germany before or during WW2. They had been actively driving the world toward war against Germany since March 1933—and hey eventually got their war. So, stop whining! That Jews were interned in concentration camps by Germany and that by war's end some tens of thousands of Jews were also among the dead and the sick, and among the ashes to which Germany had been reduced should surprise no one. So, stop whining! What should be surprising is that any Jews “survived” at all. In fact, at least five million Jews “survived” as the work of Sergio DellaPergola and others confirm.

So, what really happened? Nearly everything that Americans regard as “overwhelming evidence” or “proof” of Nazi genocidal barbarism is actually “evidence” if not outright “proof” of Anglo-American barbarism.. The real perpetrators of “indescribable horrors” that the world should never forget were the Americans and Brits themselves. The “ugly truth” about themselves is, however, far more than they can bear, or tolerate. They are in “deep denial.” They are the real “holocaust deniers” and they are bigots as well. Merely to say that Anne Frank was murdered by the Americans or Brits will bring imprisonment in Germany and no criticism from the US or Britain. So, why bother to even try to tell the “ugly truth?” There will be no Pulitzer prizes or book or movie contracts. How can anyone possibly profit from telling it? If one tries to tell the “ugly truth” however, one might help save the world from the real war criminals, the Americans and Israelis, who are unleashing themselves upon the world once again. They will destroy everything!

The “evidence” that Americans are most taken in by are the photographs of sick or dead people in the German concentration camps. The overwhelming numbers of healthy “survivors” are rarely shown, but the pictures are easy enough to find if one looks for them. The real mass murderers of many tens of thousands of Jews were NOT the Nazis, or the SS—but, the western Allies themselves as they proudly bombed and strafed the vast and unending columns of desperate civilians trekking west to escape the Soviet army. The refugees and “evacuees” including Jews were fleeing west to find safety and protection but found something else instead. The Allied intent was, of course, not to kill Jews—but only Germans. But, who could separate them; who could tell the difference between Jews on a so-called “death march” (an obscene misnomer) or on a train even with open flat cars, or Germans, or eastern Europeans.. How could anyone tell the difference, even if they wanted to? So, what to do? Kill 'em all? A careful documentation of the numbers murdered in this way is probably impossible. The masses of dead in German cities such as Dresden included countless Jews also. Who can possibly tell how many? And as far as the concentration camps, the deaths there were another, generally indirect result (but not always as Gardelegen shows with its napalm victims) of the rampaging air campaign against all German civilian targets. Retreating German military were, by contrast, far less appealing targets for the cowardly air men. German soldiers had a nasty habit of shooting back and could with some lucky shots even from an ordinary rifle bring down Allied airplanes, and often did.. Unarmed civilians—women, children, and old men, often half-starved—could not. It was so much safer to promote freedom , democracy and world peace by killing lots and lots of civilians “They were all Nazis anyway, right”

The “holocaust” is anti-German racism gone wild. It is not history If historians and holocaust educators and the USHMM (United States Holocaust Memorial Museum) and the US and German governments were really interested in the “holocaust” and its history—they would surely spend a great deal of time and space on those super extraordinary weapons of mass murder: the gas chambers. But that is not what one finds.. In the vast literature that can now be called “holocaust literature,” there is hardly any information or discussion about the gas chambers or the extermination process. Too horrible? Why bother when most people are thoroughly convinced already? Clearly, the purpose is not to understand the subject in depth. The purpose is to simply make more and more pro-Jewish propaganda and crush the Germans again. Since two world wars failed to exterminate the Germans, perhaps the Germans can be persuaded to exterminate themselves? What holocaust propaganda really proves ultimately is that Hitler's policy to expel Jews from Germany was entirely reasonable and appropriate. Hitler was right!

The word “hoax” in its harshest sense applies to what was done. Although there may have never been a formal meeting to hatch the hoax, that was not even needed. There certainly was an “incredible meeting of minds, a consensus — mindreading by a far-flung bureaucracy” (words lifted from Raul Hilberg) among the victors, and especially among the Jews.. The tale of the six million was to be a huge dead albatross around the necks of the entire German people (not just the Nazis) to “keep them down” forever. .Whether the hoaxers actually believed their own propaganda and outright lies hardly mattered. The Germans, the most civilized and most highly educated people on the planet, had to be “re-educated” and “democratized” by people who had themselves committed far worse atrocities than anything the Nazis were ever accused of committing. Those same victors also continued to hold hundreds of millions of people in virtual slavery and misery. The hoax has succeeded perfectly. Germany which had contributed far more to human enlightenment in its brief period of independence than any other country from its founding in 1871 until 1945—was reduced to making expensive automobiles and machinery, and enslaved with guilt and endless payments and apologies to people who were never exterminated to begin with..

.What people find most compelling are photographs of dead and sick people within concentration camps at the end of the war—none of whom had been killed in gas chambers. The so-called “scholarship” of historians is by and large irrelevant, and unreadable, and amounts to little more than nibbling around the edges of the real subject of mass extermination.

When ordinary people say the evidence for the holocaust story is “overwhelming,” they are telling us what they have been programmed to believe. They believe what is drummed into their heads from morning until night by the press and media. However, when historians tell us the evidence is “overwhelming”—they are lying.

People who do occasionally try to defend the gassing claims have no idea as to what they are talking about, or writing about. They provide revisionists endless opportunities to show how thoroughly stupid and baseless, even impossible, the gassing claims are. So, do not even talk to holocaust deniers. Avoid and even prevent any possible discussion of the gas chambers or else you too will surely fall into their trap. Do not look at this website unless you are truly vile and evil. Belief in the holocaust is far more important than the basic human rights nearly all nations of the world are pledged to protect. For the holocaust and its beneficiaries (“God's Chosen People”) everything must be different—and, of course, it really is different. Holocaust-belief is the new religion. We should all bow down and worship at its many altars (16 holocaust museums in the US already). We should do all we can to perpetuate the divine message—and support Israel, and prevent another holocaust. If that also means mass murder of countless moslems, so be it. It is all part of the same message.

The Nazis and SS shared their food and medicine and much more with the Jews—even until the very last days of the war! The misery in many of the camps at the end of the war was the Allies' doing. Ultimately, all that holocaust propaganda and “scholarship” really proves is that when Hitler tried to expel Jews from Germany forever, he certainly had the right idea.

DEMJANJUK: Scapegoat for Jewish Madness

The ongoing trial of JOHN DEMJANJUK in Munich, Germany is another anti-German horror show to appease the victors of World War 2, especially the Jews. Demjanjuk can no longer be accused of operating a genocidal diesel engine in Treblinka but perhaps he can be convicted of something else. Perhaps he operated a genocidal diesel engine in Sobibor. Perhaps he was merely a guard. In any event, the Jews are clearly obsessed with blood lust and must punish Demjanjuk for something, one way or another. In the good old days just after the war, it was so easy for prosecutors to find people like ADA BIMKO (Jewish) to lie for them under oath: “Yes, your honor, I actually saw Demjanjuk kick a dozen Jews to death when they refused to wipe his boots fast enough.” If nothing else worked, testimony like that was still good enough to hang any Nazi or SS member. “Eyewitnesses,” just like Bimko, were so easy to find among the anti-Nazi fanatics, especially Jews, in the former camps. That was, after all, precisely why many of them had been put there in the first place—and rightly so. But today, the prosecutors cannot simply trot out “eyewitnesses.” The possible “eyewitnesses” seem to all be dead. Demjanjuk has outlived them all.

The new (and probably last) Demjanjuk trial, this time in Germany (no other country would touch the case), is a farce. Where one might expect some new insights into whatever happened at Sobibor, one gets nothing. From a recent Reuters story about the Demjanjuk trial, one can not even tell whether the deadly mixture of carbon monoxide and (now) carbon dioxide was from a diesel engine, or a gasoline engine, or any kind of engine.

But, why bother with such details? Everyone knows it happened! To have any doubt about the crimes is a horrible sin. To actually express doubt, openly, is punishable with imprisonment—and rightly so according to Elie Wiesel. It is not any yearning for historical truth or understanding (Vergangenheitsbewältigung) that motivates these German prosecutors and judges. Their purpose is simply to appease the Jews who monitor everything. The trial is a form of national groveling at the feet of Germany's true masters. For the Jews, the trial is about revenge against a helpless old man who escaped their hangman in the past, a symbolic anti-Semite or scapegoat. It is another media op to vent more hatred and lies. Appeasing Hitler was evil---appeasing Jews is moral and good! We must give those pathological Jews everything they want---forever, and ever. That is the great “moral” lesson being taught in Germany today.

Consider how much is unknown about those engines (diesel or gasoline) that supposedly made the gas that killed millions. Those engines are surely the most spectacular devices for mass murder in all of human history. Who made those engines? Was it Mercedes-Benz, or Deutz, or GM, or Ford, or who? When were they purchased, and installed, and by whom? Who serviced or repaired the engines. Supposedly, there was a two-hour and 49-minute delay (measured with a stopwatch) in the diesel gassing witnessed by KURT GERSTEIN because the diesel would not start.

How was such an embarrassing problem corrected? Imagine how profitable it would be for the Jews if they could only show—somehow—that the genocidal engines were made, or installed, or repaired by any of the large corporations that are still out there today. Those corporations could be blackmailed and bled white for years. Such an opportunity!

Surely, to fight global terrorism and protect Jews from “another holocaust,” we must understand how automotive engines were used to commit such crimes during WW2. Perhaps we should simply ban all such engines. If we really care about the “holocaust” as much as we pretend, then surely we must take such questions seriously. If the next al-Qaeda terrorist kills some Jews in America with diesel exhaust or gasoline engine exhaust, it will be so embarrassing. Heads will roll at homeland security. How big and powerful were those murderous engines in Nazi Germany? What fuel was used? Was producer gas the fuel? If not, why not? At what rpm or speed? Was there any external load on the engines? Are there any records at all for these marvelous murder weapons? Is there any scientific, forensic or medical evidence or literature anywhere to show how these engines might have actually killed masses of people? Although there are some anecdotal claims made after the war about the engines, they are so contradictory and vague that they are worthless even by the shabby standards of holocaust historiography. They are hardly mentioned in the holocaust literature any more. Every snippet of info from one “eyewitness” is contradicted by at least one other snippet from another “eyewitness.” Many “witnesses” merely heard that such and such had happened. Was the engine really from a Soviet T-34 tank as was sometimes claimed, or from a Russian submarine as EICHMANN seems to have claimed? The anti-German prosecutors and holocaust promoters can't keep their lies straight—and, they have nothing better.

Surely, if the evidence really were “overwhelming,” we would at least know something—but we know nothing at all! Was the engine a diesel engine as was almost universally claimed by the “holocaust scholars” until recently—or what? Nothing is known about those genocidal engines because the gassing story really is rubbish. It never happened!

There are no German documents showing that even one person was ever gassed in Sobibor, or anywhere else. There are no exhumed corpses with autopsies showing death from gas in Sobibor, or anywhere else. There are no cremains (bone fragments after cremation) in Sobibor, or anywhere else showing death from poison gas or any other kind of foul play. There is not even an extermination methodology that makes any sense forensically or technically.

The Historians have Blood on their Hands

The wildest, pseudo-scientific conspiracy theory imaginable has been blindly embraced by historians.. As a social class, historians are far too lazy to do any real research beyond their ivory towers. They pander to those in power which means, in our age, to the Jews. Until a few hundred years ago, people believed in “overwhelming evidence” about witchcraft and contacts with the devil—but, it was all bad evidence manufactured in superficially fair, legal proceedings by skilled fanatics. It was all about “eyewitness testimony” and “confessions.” The anti-German, anti-Nazi gassing claims are the same phenomenon. The fanatics are still at work even if the story line has changed. Although there were tens of thousands of corpses in German concentration camps at the end of WW2, and many more outside the camps—there is absolutely no forensic evidence from autopsies to show that even one person was ever killed by the Nazis with poison gas or poison. The holocaust is a “pseudo-event,” concocted and promoted by the worst war criminals in all of human history, namely the victors of World War 2. Holocaust-belief is a form of collective insanity driven by the ravings of unhappy Jews.

As to those horrible photographs of thousands of dead and sick in concentration camps at the end of the war, is it really so hard to recognize that those scenes were the end product of the cowardly Anglo-American air war against civilian targets in Germany? And, by the way, that air war against civilians was begun by the British in 1940 and not by the Germans. It is extremely hard for the victors to look at themselves in the mirror. So, blame the Germans instead! And, if the Germans even dare to protest—the victorious Allies can destroy Germany again.

Hitler had superb, cyanide gas chambers—but they were used ONLY to keep people alive. Those gas chambers were used in many strategic locations throughout eastern Europe to fumigate entire railroad trains, for example, with cyanide gas from Zyklon-B. Other superb gas chambers were used in hundreds of POW camps and concentration camps, including Auschwitz, to fumigate and delouse everything from clothing to furniture, also with cyanide gas from Zyklon-B. Those superb gas chambers certainly could have been used for mass murder as well. But none of those real gas chambers have ever been implicated in any of the holocaust gassing claims. Instead, the Nazis supposedly used diesel exhaust and Zyklon-B—but, here is where it gets really crazy, the Zyklon-B was simply dumped, supposedly, through small holes in the roofs of cellars—without the warmed, forced air and circulation that was routinely used in all of Germany's most highly-advanced gas chambers. See my essay: "Zyklon-B and the German Delousing Chambers."

The gassing hoax has succeeded in part because of the widely held, but false, belief that murder with poison gas is almost childishly easy, and quick—and even painless. That false belief has actually been fostered by official practitioners of gas executions in the US, the government itself, in order to disarm critics of the death penalty. By American law, legal executions must NOT be cruel. Even the American execution expert and holocaust revisionist FRED LEUCHTER believed that "if I do my job properly, death will be quick and painless." When he said that in 1988, he had never actually witnessed even one gas execution. He was a qualified expert in a field where gas executions had not been carried out for decades. It has only been in the last decade that an enormous body of evidence from actual gas executions has emerged (see the links at the bottom of this page, column left) which show that even where only one person is gassed to death, the killing process is far from easy, quick or painless. Death by gas is in fact slow, rather complicated technically and excruciatingly painful. The best results occur when the victims assist in their own executions by inhaling deeply after the poison gas enters the gas chamber. But such a claim, especially about Jews, is too absurd to be believed. See my essay: "Self-Assisted Holocaust Hoax."

The Jews were still alive

The simplest reason for rejecting the Holocaust story in general is that the vast majority of European Jews were still alive at the end of World War 2. Professor ARTHUR BUTZ, the author of The Hoax of the Twentieth Century, made this claim nearly thirty years ago—and he was absolutely correct as the following quote from a credible, recent Jewish source shows.

The Jewish Week 11-28-2003

Two new studies to determine the location of Jewish Holocaust survivors, for use in making future allocations to the most needy, differ widely on the number of survivors worldwide, The Jewish Week has learned. Sergio DellaPergola, a demographer for the Institute of Contemporary Jewry at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, found 1,092,000 survivors worldwide. Jacob Ukeles, a policy researcher in Manhattan, found 688,000. The Ukeles survey, an update of one he prepared in 2000 for the Conference on Jewish Material Claims Against Germany, found only minor differences from his previous effort. Lawrence Eagleburger, chairman of the International Commission on Holocaust Era Insurance Claims, commissioned both surveys. Eagleburger had hoped to use the figures in determining how to distribute $13.2 million annually in humanitarian funds for needy survivors worldwide.

If someone had produced a video showing JFK speaking to an audience months after his “alleged” assassination in Dallas—holding a newspaper with text showing the newspaper was clearly published long after that date, we would all know there was something seriously wrong with the story we have been told. Any number of “alleged” events could be debunked in the same way if they were false events. The “holocaust” is just such a false event because of the stunning evidence that we have today.

SERGIO DELLAPERGOLA's amazing discovery of 1,092,000 Jewish holocaust survivors alive in 2003 is thoroughly discussed in his 2003 report. Clearly, the numbers of “Jewish holocaust survivors” alive more than fifty-five years after the war are so enormous that one should wonder if any Jews at all perished during World War 2. Any conservative and reasonable statistical analysis of population decline over the post-war years would surely conclude that there were more than five million Jewish “holocaust survivors” alive at the end of the war. No doubt, some innocent Jews were killed—but, there is no good reason to believe Jewish deaths were statistically unusual for a long, horrific war in which many tens of millions of innocent civilians were killed of all nationalities. On the basis of numbers alone—the generally accepted story is a monumental hoax. The continued worldwide acceptance of that hoax, even in Germany, is a tribute to the enormous power and influence of the supposed victims and the Jewish community in general. The uniqueness of the mass gassing claims has also appealed to the darker sides of human imagination and gullibility.

TABLE 1. ESTIMATE OF SHOAH SURVIVORS,^a BY MAJOR GEOGRAPHIC DIVISIONS, 2003

| Region | Number | Percent |
|---------------------|------------------|--------------|
| World Total | 1,092,000 | 100.0 |
| Israel | 511,000 | 46.8 |
| United States | 174,000 | 15.9 |
| Former Soviet Union | 146,000 | 13.4 |
| Western Europe | 197,000 | 18.1 |
| Eastern Europe | 32,000 | 2.9 |
| Rest of the world | 32,000 | 2.9 |

a Intermediate extensive definition, see p. 3.

The total of Shoah survivors reassessed in 2003 according to the comprehensive criteria outlined above, is currently evaluated at 1,092,000 persons (see Table

The above table is from page six of DellaPergola's report. (click to enlarge)

One profound shortcoming in the DellaPergola report is that its “intermediate extensive” approach (see page 13 of the report) includes only “Jewish persons who are alive today” (meaning 2003) which obviously excludes people who had been Jewish during WW2 but who had “converted” or assimilated during the war and abandoned their earlier attachments to judaism—and who are NOT Jewish today. The numbers of people who fit into this category can only be guessed at by this author—but it does seem reasonable to imagine that the numbers are quite substantial. To escape the real, or perceived, dangers to their survival, many jews would have certainly dropped their religious attachments just as Germans after WW2 abandoned their earlier attachments to national-socialism. One might even call this the Madeline Albright phenomenon. Ms. Albright supposedly only learned of her family's prewar Jewish-Czech identity after she herself had been raised as a Roman Catholic in the U.S. and had risen to become Secretary of State. Although her parents had come to a supposedly religion tolerant society, they did not resume their jewish identity and raised their daughter as a Christian instead. Any other living Jewish relatives of Ms. Albright apparently remained silent or out of contact as well.

A similar shortcoming of the DellaPergola report is that it does not include people who had been Jewish during WW2 but who abandoned any Jewish identity in the fifty-eight years since the end of the war, for whatever reasons, which might simply be intermarriage—or, outright rejection of religion in general as one would expect in communist eastern Europe. To ignore the postwar pressures to conform to an atheistic world view would be like taking the difference in censuses of Christians in eastern Europe, before and after communism—and then concluding that the difference represented the number of “Christians exterminated under communism.” Accusations of rabid anti-Semitism under postwar communism have been rather frequent and, therefore, one should expect the pressures to conform to have significantly reduced the Jewish population in the postwar period as well.

In view of real, or perceived, dangers to their survival, why would any sane Jewish person want to remain Jewish? Are Jews more fanatical about their religious beliefs than other people? What this all means is that the true numbers of Jewish “holocaust survivors” alive at the end of the war must be significantly greater than the millions implied by the DellaPergola report directly. The true numbers of “surviving persons of wartime Jewish identity” are, in any event, enormous and are the clearest and most dramatic refutation of the hoax. The numbers of additional “wartime Jews” who abandoned their Jewish identity after the war make the case against the hoax even more dramatic.

The archives at Bad Arolsen are becoming available and contain more than 50 million pages of documents about people who were in German camps during the war. By some accounts, those archives provide extensive documentation of Nazi atrocities. But, a recent letter from Bad Arolsen shows otherwise: “unfortunately, we cannot reference a single document listing the death of a detainee due to gassing by Zyklon-B. As a rule, the Nazis gave other causes of death for inmates, who perished in the concentration camps. With kind regards,

U. Jost Archival Manager”

Almost needless to say, they could not provide any evidence of gassings with carbon monoxide, or diesel exhaust, or gasoline engine exhaust either—or else, they would have been more than delighted to provide it.

The implications of the following essay are enormous:

<http://www.ejpress.org/article/35149>

One might well ask if there is some kind of extermination process at work today. In the USA, out of 100 Jews during the general post war era, there are supposedly, according to the essay, only three left four generations later. The essay also supports my view that the vast majority of “missing” Jews at the end of WW2 had NOT been killed at all but had simply discarded their jewish identities. And, why not? No doubt, many “converts” restored their jewish identities after the war—but many others did not. How many is the important question. Judging by the willingness of Jews to discard their “jewishness” since the war based on the linked essay above, the numbers of Jews who did so during the war must have been at least as great.

We should begin to speak of a holocaust through conversion and collaboration—and NOT of physical extermination at all. So, what to do about it, if anything? Should anyone in their right mind even care? I think not, except to unravel the holocaust insanity in general. Holocaust-belief is a kind of collective insanity. It has already become a new religion which one must believe, without question, or be condemned as an “evil” heretic—even imprisoned as in Germany, or Austria, and ruined as well, as happened to David Irving and Bishop Williamson. “Guilt for the holocaust” has come to replace “original sin” for which all except the Jewish victims themselves must “bear responsibility” or suffer severe consequences.

The Nazis could have done It – the Technology for Mass Murder was there

Mass gassings were technically possible—and the Germans were more than capable technically of committing such deeds, just as all modern industrial nations are—but NOT by using the absurd and clumsy methods alleged in the Holocaust literature. Even with the most generous allowances for “errors” (major, as well as minor) on the part of self-styled “eyewitnesses”—the gassing claims, including those involving so-called “gas vans,” are simply impossible. There are no exceptions.

Abb. 26. Längsschnitt durch eine Entlausungskammer mit Kreislaufanordnung

The diagram above shows the standard DEGESCH gas chamber of which hundreds were used in many POW camps and concentration camps including Dachau and Auschwitz. They all used Zyklon-B and cyanide to keep people alive. The technical literature and structures which still exist show us what the Germans were actually thinking and how they used Zyklon-B and cyanide. For more, see my essay. Ironically, those German facilities and the cyanide handling technology which existed and which could have been used for mass murder has never been implicated in any way by the accusers.

Throughout German-occupied Europe poison gas was also used as fuel (producer gas or Holzgas with as much as 35% CO) to propel nearly all civilian motor vehicles in order to conserve gasoline and liquid diesel fuel for the military. However, every historical work on the subject of alleged Nazi gassings, even on World War 2 generally, is totally oblivious to the existence of that enormously important technology. Producer gas was a major feature of German survival throughout the war—and yet, it would have also been ideal for mass murder.

In addition, the Germans also had huge, superbly designed gas chambers in strategic locations such as Budapest and other major cities in eastern Europe for fumigating entire railroad trains with cyanide and Zyklon-B. Those facilities were vitally important to prevent typhus-infected lice from being shipped to the west with returning soldiers, or workers, or Jews. Typhus was endemic in many parts of eastern Europe, especially Poland. However, those gas chambers would have also been perfect for mass murder—but, they are never even mentioned in any of the tales of mass gassing. Also, hundreds of thousands of German civilian bombshelters were “gas-tight” by law and would have been ideal for suffocating victims trapped inside—even without any poison gas, although gas could have been added easily enough. The existence of all such facilities was widely and openly discussed in great detail in the German technical literature of that period and is readily available today in major libraries throughout the world—but the “historians,” including those who specialize in “holocaust studies,” have simply not bothered to use it if they are even aware of it.

The availability of the large, railroad delousing tunnels and also the widespread use of producer gas or Holzgas to drive most motor vehicles (to be discussed here later) lead to only two possible conclusions: either

(1) the Nazis and Germans were the most clumsy, inefficient and technically stupid, mass murderers in all of human history, or (2) the “holocaust” is a monumental hoax as alleged by revisionists. Since the “fiendish” Nazis were certainly far from technically stupid, only one possible conclusion remains.

The heart of the hoax--DIESELS

Even among the most ardent proponents of the WMD theories about SADDAM HUSSEIN, or even among the Israelis, or the most extreme neo-conservatives—no one has ever suggested that the exhaust of Iraq's many hundreds of thousands of diesel trucks or diesel tanks might have been used for mass murder. If they had, they would have been laughed at—and rightly so. And yet just such an insane theory is still at the very heart of the Holocaust legend. Two million of the alleged three million Nazi gassings of Jews were supposedly committed with diesel exhaust (the vast majority in Treblinka, Belzec and Sobibor). The fact that most people do not even know of the importance of diesels to the “Holocaust” suggests that the hoaxers themselves know just how thoroughly stupid the diesel claims truly are—otherwise, they would have certainly made much more of that part of the story. Nonetheless, when one reads the works of the Jewish holocaust “scholars” (HILBERG and GILBERT, for example) it is clearly spelled out that two million Jews, as well as countless non-Jews (no one really cares how many) were all supposedly murdered by the Nazis with diesel exhaust in gas chambers or gas vans—whereas only about a million were supposedly murdered with Zyklon-B and cyanide. The most often referred to “eyewitness” to any gassings anywhere was KURT GERSTEIN, an engineer, who claimed he watched the entire process with a stopwatch in his hands. As recently as 1999, the U. S. government was still trying to deport JOHN DEMJANJUK for his alleged involvement in the alleged mass murder of 200,000 people in Sobibor with diesel exhaust.

For people who have ever been behind a fully loaded bus during rush-hour as it pulls away from a bus stop at peak acceleration, the smell is overwhelming and it is easy to imagine that diesel exhaust must be extremely toxic. The truth is quite different, however. Diesel exhaust smells bad, it may even look bad, and it may cause cancer. But, as a source of a toxic gas, specifically carbon monoxide, for killing anything in half-an-hour, diesel exhaust is thoroughly impractical even under heavy loads. The smell is due to small amounts of certain chemical components which are totally harmless except for some possible long-term effects.

Carbon monoxide, the real potential killing ingredient, is completely odorless and is only present in trace amounts less than 1/2% by volume; at idle the amounts are less than 1/10 of one percent. The presence, or absence, of carbon monoxide has absolutely no relation to the smell of diesel exhaust.

For any conceivable diesel gas chamber—the real danger is heat and nothing else, except at extremely heavy loads which are not even suggested by any of the holocaust scenarios. By contrast, gasoline engines produce lots of toxic CO (much more than any diesels ever could) with no oxygen left over either. With diesel exhaust the great danger, and it would have been quite lethal, would have been the temperature of the exhaust—especially if the engine had already been warm and/or idling at high rpm. With diesel exhaust, the danger from CO or reduced oxygen would have been essentially zero from any idling diesel—but the temperatures, well above 200 degrees Fahrenheit, would have killed everyone eventually—and probably in less half-an-hour. In other words and contrary to PS-501 (forged letter from Becker to Rauff), there would have been NO “Erstickungstod (death from suffocation)” or “Einschlaefierungstod (death from CO).” The same argument applies to all alleged diesel gassings a la Kurt Gerstein.

Diesel exhaust might be useful for torture—but certainly not for murder. In 1957 a British scientific study on hundreds of living animals showed that five hours of continuous exposure to full-strength, diesel exhaust from an idling diesel (two separate tests) failed to kill even one of the test animals. Each test used 4 rabbits, 10 guinea pigs and 40 mice. There has never been any refutation of those results—before, or since.. Nonetheless, the gassing claims including those involving diesel exhaust persist through endless repetition by a hopelessly corrupted and wilfully blind media. See the Color Graph for Toxic Effects of Low Carbon Monoxide Levels

See Graph #1 in the essay about diesel exhaust toxicity.

An Extraordinary Suicide with Carbon Monoxide

Although the importance of the diesel engine to the holocaust legend is quite strong and consistent, some holocaust believers are now backpedaling and suggesting on their own website and blog that it must have been gasoline engine exhaust instead. The two major problems with that revised holocaust theory are that (1) it still takes a long time to kill many people with gasoline exhaust, and (2) the corpses would almost invariably appear a bright, distinct RED or cherry-red which is contrary to ALL of the known witnesses for Treblinka, Belzec and Sobibor. Only one witness Dr. Leidig did claim corpses were RED after an experimental gassing in Sachsenhausen. All of the other witnesses claimed either nothing about the appearance of the corpses as far as color or that the corpses were either BLUE or BLuish.

An extraordinary case of suicide with gasoline engine exhaust reveals that even with gasoline engine exhaust—death is far from quick. But how quick? A British essay by Flanagan et al examines the case of a 36-year old man in good physical health who had a taperecorder running during his suicide.

The taperecording provided that rarest kind of information about any automotive suicide—a timeline. The last sounds recorded occurred twenty minutes after the victim turned his car's gasoline engine on. A reconstruction of the suicide showed that the CO levels had increased steadily over that period reaching nearly 5% before the victim ceased making any sounds. Death came even later. .

If the engine had been a diesel running under a heavy load, the maximum CO concentration would have been only 0.5% (only 1/10th the concentration of the Flanagan case). If the engine had been a diesel running only at idle—which is the most likely comparable running condition—the CO concentration would have been less than 0.1% (only 1/50th of the Flanagan case). What it all means is that death from diesel exhaust would have taken far, far longer than the 32 minutes claimed by KURT GERSTEIN and every other self-proclaimed “eyewitness” to such alleged diesel gassings. All of those “eyewitnesses” are liars. Nearly 2 million Jews had supposedly been murdered at Treblinka, Belzec, Sobibor and in the so-called “gas vans” with diesel exhaust. The evidence shows that those alleged gassings never happened because they were technically impossible.

In another case, this time in Japan, a 27-year old man committed suicide with gasoline engine exhaust. Most unusual was the fact that the victim made handwritten notes as the exhaust entered the vehicle. His last entry was made 17 minutes after the gas began entering. In another words, when the time until death is known, it becomes obvious that death with carbon monoxide is quite slow even when the CO levels are vastly greater than one would ever have in diesel exhaust.

Homicidal Gas Vans

In 1943 the Soviets held show trials to convince the world that the Germans had been using gas vans to murder Soviet citizens with the exhaust gases from diesel engines. The proceedings at Krasnodar and Kharkov are described in The Verdict. From the indictment for the Krasnodar trial on page 49 we have the following:

Medico-legal experts who exhumed and examined bodies found in an anti-tank ditch near Krasnodar stated in their postmortem findings on 29th June, 1943: "The skin, skeletal muscles and mucous membranes of lips, stomach, intestines, pericardium and peritoneum were either a pale pink or bright cherry colour, also noted in some cases in sections of internal organs such as the kidneys, lungs and heart. Spectroscopic and chemical examinations of the blood and portions of organs removed for biopsy showed that in 523 cases out of 623 bodies, death was caused by carbon monoxide poisoning." As established by the investigation similar "gas lorries," which were nicknamed "murder vans," were used by the Germans for murdering peaceful Soviet citizens not only in Krasnodar but also in Kharkov. These vans, as testified by the German defendants in the present case and also by witnesses who witnessed the crimes committed by the Germans, are large closed trucks of dark grey colour, driven by Diesel engines. The vans are lined inside with galvanized iron and have air-tight folding doors at the back. The floor is equipped with a wooden grating under which passes a pipe with apertures. This pipe is connected to the exhaust pipe of the engine. The exhaust gases of the Diesel engine, containing highly concentrated carbon monoxide, enter the body of the van, causing rapid poisoning and asphyxiation of the people locked up in the van.

Diesel exhaust contains hardly any carbon monoxide, even under heavy engine loads. If the engines had simply been idling (no load on the engine) with the vehicles parked as suggested by the infamous unsigned letter from Becker to Rauff in Nuremberg File PS-501, the carbon monoxide levels would have been practically nil and the exhaust gases would have been harmless except for the heat. Death, if it occurred, would NOT have been from carbon monoxide at all. The Soviet, purported “medico-legal” investigations could have only been a sham.

RED Coloring of Corpses versus Blue

The self-styled “eyewitnesses” invariably described corpses after gassings as either “blue,” or “bluish,” or normal in appearance, and even “green.”

People killed with carbon monoxide or cyanide appear, with rare exceptions, as a distinct “red” as soon as they are dead, even before death, because of the intense, bright-red coloring of the blood itself. See the discussion of this important topic on the CODOH Revisionist Forum and see also the two images on this page at the bottom, column left. Such dramatic errors in the testimony of key witnesses undermine the entire holocaust story—but, in reality, they have had no impact on the courts or on the acceptance of the holocaust myth in general. Defendants and their counsels rarely if ever want to challenge the myth in general and so, the holocaust myth persists. How can “eyewitnesses” possibly mistake red for blue or green unless they are all liars?

Note the bright "cherry red" or bright pink lividity to the hand. Carbon monoxide (CO) poisoning is a form of asphyxia that results when CO is inhaled, diffuses across alveoli, and binds tightly to hemoglobin. Poorly ventilated houses with faulty heaters, housefires, and motor vehicle exhaust are the most common sources. Even small atmospheric concentrations of CO are dangerous, because CO binds to hemoglobin 200 times more avidly than oxygen. Drowsiness and headache occur at carboxyhemoglobin concentrations between 10 and 20%. Levels from 20 to 30% can be fatal to persons with pre-existing cardiac or respiratory disease. Levels above 30 to 40% can be fatal to anyone. Similar lividity could be the result of cyanide poisoning or monofluoroacetate poisoning.

The most important essay showing the nearly perfect correlation between intense RED coloring in corpses and fatal carbon monoxide poisoning is originally from Austria based on the examinations of 182 corpses of people who died from CO. The answer to the question posed by the title of the essay is YES—and that means that nearly all of the evidence about the supposed deaths of more than 2 million Jews in the Reinhardt camps is rubbish. All of the "witnesses" from GERSTEIN on lied about the most obvious kind of evidence for such claims. The linked essays which follow help refute the claim that Germans would have ever used diesel exhaust for mass murder. Nearly two million Jews were supposedly murdered in Treblinka, Belzec and Sobibor with diesel exhaust. Although there are some rare, occasional deaths from diesel exhaust—any murder method based on diesel exhaust is preposterous and unbelievable when one understands what would have been needed. And yet, the claim that nearly two million Jews and countless others were supposedly murdered with diesel exhaust persists. The US government was still making this claim with regard to Sobibor just a few years ago in its never ending hounding of John Demjanjuk, the Ukrainian who had supposedly operated the diesel engine at Treblinka.

“However, in the medical examiner area, lethal CO poisoning from inhalation of diesel fumes from any make or model of on-road vehicle is virtually unheard of and contemporary medical literature does not report it.”

See page 1206 of the linked Griffin et al essay which follows:

Griffin, Ward, Terrell, Stewart: “Diesel Fumes DO Kill: A Case of Fatal Carbon Monoxide Poisoning Directly Attributed to Diesel Fuel Exhaust . . .”

(pdf)

(click icon, above, for audio commentary)

“Under light load the [diesel] engine produced highly acrid fumes. Five hours’ exposure caused no deaths, but seven hours’ exposure did so.”

See page 55 of the linked Pattle et al essay which follows:

Pattle, Stretch, Burgess, Sinclair, & Edginton: “The Toxicity of Fumes from a Diesel Engine under Four Different Running Conditions” \(pdf\)  (click icon, left, for audio commentary)

The greatest danger from diesel exhaust is from the temperature of the exhaust which can be 200 degrees Fahrenheit at idle. If that is introduced into only a small space with people, death will follow eventually. But temperature is not a form of toxicity. Diesel exhaust is only marginally toxic for short exposures if the diesel engine is operating at or near its maximum load rating. That means it must be operating with a substantial load on the engine--and that is quite inconceivable for any of the diesel gassing scenarios that appear in the holocaust allegations, anywhere.

One critical essay regarding diesel exhaust temperatures is: “Diesel engine exhaust gas recirculation—a review on advanced and novel concept” by Ming Zheng , , a, Graham T. Reader b and J. Gary Hawley c

Another important essay which illustrates the same nearly perfect correlation is: Thomsen, Asser H. and Gregersen, Markil, “Suicide by carbon monoxide from car exhaust-gas in Denmark 1995–1999,” Forensic Science International 161 (2006) pp. 41-46. From page 44 we learn that of the 388 car exhaust-gas suicides during the period in Denmark, the “characteristic pink livor mortis was found in 353 (93.6% of those with livor mortis) victims. Nine (2.4% of those with livor mortis) victims had normal colored livor mortis; three of these had survived more than a day after the poisoning. The color of livor mortis was not described in 15 (3.9%) victims.” For 11 (2.8%) of the victims, putrefaction or burns had been so extensive that livor mortis was impossible to find.

The RED coloring appears b-e-f-o-r-e death and continues long after death. It arises when the blood carboxyhemoglobin (COHbG) level is greater than 30% in any white person, l-i-v-i-n-g- or d-e-a-d. The coloring (cherry-red, bright red, or pink) occurs because the blood itself, just below the skin surface, becomes intensely bright red from the presence of the COHbG. If death is involved, the COHbG certainly did not jump above 30% upon death, or anytime thereafter—but rose gradually, while the victim was still breathing, above the threshold well b-e-f-o-r-e death occurred. A person can still be quite healthy except for that coloring if he is in good physical condition generally. They may not die until his or her COHbg level rises above 70%. In a sense, the red coloring is not livor mortis at all since the coloring does not mean a person is even dead; so, don't bury the victim just because he looks like a cherry. The victim might still be alive and breathing normally. The coloring is merely a sign of a high level of CO in the blood. It is an excellent indicator of extreme CO poisoning – but no proof of death.

THOMAS KUES wrote two important essays recently which discuss the same evidence. The first essay is on CODOH and the second essay appears on pages 3 and 4 of Smith's Report for April, 2009.

Clearly, the “eyewitnesses” to mass gassings with engine exhaust (diesel or gasoline) in German camps are all liars. Since there is no other evidence of mass gassings for any of those camps, the related extermination claims should be dropped.

Green coloring of a corpse is an indication of putrefaction. According to Francis E. Camps editor, Gradwohl's Legal Medicine, Third Edition, 1976, page 88: “The first sign of putrefaction is a greenish discoloration of the lower abdominal skin which appears about the second or third day after death.... Gradually the colour spreads over the whole abdomen, thence on” to the chest, and by this time a putrid odour becomes apparent. By the end of the first week most of the trunk is discoloured, some areas being greenish and others more purple.

From the deposition of Henryk Tauber given on May 24, 1945 as it appears on page 489 of Jean-Claude Pressac's Auschwitz: Technique and Operation of the Gas Chambers: "We found heaps of naked bodies, doubled up. They were pinkish, and in places red. Some were covered with greenish marks and saliva ran from their mouths. Others were bleeding from the nose. There was excrement on many of them. I remember that a great number had their eyes open and were hanging on to one another. The bodies were most crushed together round the door. By contrast, there were less around the wire mesh columns." The greenish marks could only appear on corpses at least two days after death which is consistent with a morgue where many corpses had accumulated over many days and NOT at all consistent with corpses of people killed only a few hours earlier.

CO poisoning victim (still alive) from San Antonio, Texas at the link.

FIGURE 9.59 Carbon monoxide poisoning causes red livor mortis. Red livor mortis also occurs in cyanide poisoning and from the cold.

Figure with caption are from: Forensic Pathology--A Color Atlas on CD-ROM by Jay Dix, CRC Press (Boca Raton, FL., USA), page 111.

Fig. 13 Cherry-red appearance of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Figure with caption are from: Forensic Medicine: Colour Guide (Edinburgh; New York: Churchill Livingstone, 2003) page 12.

monoxide poisoning

THE MAN WITH A RED FACE

BRUCE L. DANTO, M.D.¹

In evaluating a patient who has made a suicidal attempt, particular attention should be focused on the possibility that he may have used additional methods not immediately apparent. The following case is intended to be an example of such a situation.

Recently, a 21-year-old, white male of Italian descent was admitted to the psychiatric service of Detroit Receiving Hospital. The reason for his admission concerned an attempted suicide. Two days prior to admission he ingested 4 Tuinal capsules after a ruptured romance. Subsequently, he became lethargic, obtunded and mentally slowed. His parents took him to a local hospital where he was gavage, given intravenous glucose and water and discharged to his parents. After his return home he collapsed, became semi-conscious and was rushed to another local hospital. The staff of the latter hospital had the opinion that his condition was attributable to drug toxicity in terms of the history of his attempted suicide. The same treatment was repeated and an FBS, BUN and CBC proved to be normal. As he was without funds or hospitalization insurance, he was transferred to Receiving Hospital.

¹ Resident Psychiatrist, Dept. of Psychiatry, Receiving Hosp., Detroit 26, Mich.

When seen on the morning following his

276 CASE REPORTS [September

admission the author was struck by the appearance of the patient's cherry-red face. Additionally, he was thick-tongued in speech, lethargic and showed impairment of orientation as regards time and place. Confusion as to what had brought about his admission was noted.

The writer's initial impression was acute brain syndrome but one whose etiology might involve carbon monoxide poisoning. Thus, the patient was questioned closely as regards the circumstances and details of his suicide attempt. Elicited from the patient were additional facts that he had fallen asleep in his car with the engine running and the windows closed. Twelve hours later, he awoke and returned home to tell his parents what he had done. At that time his clothes were covered by vomitus. It became apparent that a most important clinical sign and area of history had been overlooked previously.

Laboratory studies done on his remarkably cherry-red venous blood revealed an RBS of 80, BUN 14, Hb, 17.8, WBC 10,050, CO₂ 23.0, sodium 135, potassium 5.0, chloride 107, amylase less than 200, Kline non-reactive and a normal urinalysis. Unfortunately, it was not possible to confirm the diagnosis by a carboxyhemoglobin determination because this test was not available in the hospital laboratory. An EEG showed a borderline abnormal record because of slight diffuse dysrhythmia. He was treated with nasal oxygen at 6 liters per minute because the clinical evidence supported the impression of carbon monoxide poisoning. A lumbar puncture was not indicated.

He dramatically improved over the 13 days of his treatment and he was discharged. Psychological testing conducted after a few days of treatment failed to show any organic brain damage as measured by the Bender, WAIS, MMPI and Rorschach.

Victims who have been killed (not merely living patients who have been poisoned) with carbon monoxide or cyanide are, with rare exceptions, marked with a distinct, even "characteristic" red coloring over most of their bodies. The exceptions are the corpses of people, generally old and/or infirm, who died quickly before the carboxyhemoglobin or oxyhemoglobin levels could rise high enough to effect the color of the corpse. Let those who contend otherwise try to find photographic evidence from the forensic medical literature to support the holocaust claims about "blue" or "bluish" or even "green" corpses. They will find, instead, only more evidence that the holocaust story is a monumental hoax. If the holocaust is not a hoax, then surely all of the forensic medical textbooks and atlases must be rewritten to include the "overwhelming" evidence from the holocaust. We may as well turn science on its head. Why not?

The most important essay showing the nearly perfect correlation between intense red coloring in corpses and carbon monoxide poisoning is originally from Austria based on the examinations of 182 corpses of people who died from CO. The answer posed by the title of the essay is YES—and that means that nearly all of the evidence about the supposed deaths of more than 2 million Jews in the Reinhardt camps is rubbish. All of the "witnesses" from GERSTEIN on lied about the most obvious kind of evidence for Except for such bad evidence, there is next to nothing to support those claims. C

Click the image left for an enlarged view.

POISON GAS from Wood Chips--the Nazi Alternative Fuel

Throughout the war, Germany actually used carbon monoxide as an alternative fuel. All of the holocaust gassing claims involving diesel engine exhaust, or even gasoline exhaust, are inherently absurd for that reason. As today's fuel prices rise, can anyone imagine using poison gas to drive their car or truck? Well, in World War 2 the Germans did precisely that—and so did the people of many other countries, even long after the war.

Wartime German-occupied Europe was desperately short of liquid fuels which had to be conserved for military combat vehicles. To deal with this genuine fuel crisis, most civilian vehicles used neither gasoline nor diesel fuel; they used a substance called “producer gas” instead. The producer gas was made in generators mounted on the vehicles themselves, generally near the rear. Solid materials such as wood, coke, or coal were burned in the generators with a restricted supply of air to yield the producer gas, called Holzgas (wood-gas, literally) in German. This gas was then drawn into modified diesel (compression ignition) or gasoline (spark ignition) type engines at the fronts of the vehicles by engine vacuum. The principal ingredient of the gas was carbon monoxide, 18% to 35%, which burned extremely well—but, the fuel was also extremely toxic. The usefulness of the producer gas as a fuel increased with the concentration of CO—which also increased the toxicity. That gas would have been ideal for mass murder if the Nazis had ever intended to gas anyone. The gas could have simply been called “poison gas,” which it certainly was, but that would have also caused panic among the general public. Nonetheless, everyone involved with its use, either directly or indirectly, had to know for their own survival and safety that it was extremely poisonous and even explosive.

See the Holzgas Generator image.

The most shocking feature of this technology was that it was used throughout German-occupied Europe to drive more than 500,000 motor vehicles. It was practically everywhere. Every auto or truck repair shop anywhere in German-occupied Europe repaired or worked on these poison gas generating vehicles at some time or other. In addition, all drivers of these vehicles were specially licensed only after rigorous training with a heavy emphasis on safety. They were all required by law to know that this fuel contained as much as 35% carbon monoxide and that already as little as 0.1% carbon monoxide was enough to kill –albeit only in about ten hours. They all, including loading and supervisory personnel, needed to know this for their own safety and that of the people around them—and even keep written reminders (the Safety Guidelines) in the glove compartments of all of these vehicles. And yet, nowhere have any Nazis ever been even accused of employing this superb and readily available, deadly gas to kill even one person. How ironic to say the least.

Producer gas is the key to unraveling the hoax—especially regarding the so-called “gas vans” many of which were supposedly built by the Swiss-Austro-German truck manufacturer “Saurer.” “Saurer”

Bild 8. Kromag-Holzgasleingenerator built what were arguably the best producer gas trucks (Holzgaswagen) in the entire world. The fuel generated on such vehicles in the Imbert gas generators would have been ideal for mass murder. On the other hand, the engine exhaust from the diesel engines on the Saurer vehicles would have been practically harmless. Saurer diesel engines were possibly the most efficient and cleanest burning of that era, and decades later, became the basis for the phenomenal Volkswagen and Audi TDI diesel engines (bowl-in-piston) of today. Of course, after the war, if anyone had stepped forward to explain just how thoroughly stupid the diesel-exhaust gassing claims were because of the alternative poison gas—they would have merely put their own neck in the noose. And so, the insane claim that diesel exhaust was used to murder millions persists to this day.
Type „K“

Fot.: Ing. W. Oerley.

Abb. 1. Saurer 5 BHW. mit Holzgasantrieb.

There is a fraudulent connection to Saurer, however, in the stories of the “gas vans” that were allegedly used in Russia to kill prisoners. The forged document is an infamous letter from Becker to Walter Rauff (an unsigned carbon copy only) which describes a “Sauer” vehicle parked with prisoners in the van. The exhaust from the engine (diesel most likely) was then supposedly directed into the van to kill the prisoners. The simple fact is that the fuel for any Saurer producer gas vehicle would have been vastly more toxic. For more about the gas van hoax, see the work of INGRID WECKERT.

Holocaust historians such as RAUL HILBERG repeatedly claimed that the “killing centers worked quickly and efficiently” on an “assembly line basis” resembling the “complex mass-production methods of a modern [industrial] plant.” But producer gas is never implicated or even mentioned by any of the holocaust historians. Surely, if the diesel gassing claims persist, one should also condemn the Nazis and Germans for being the most clumsy and inefficient mass murderers in the entire history of the world.

Even the smallest automotive distributors, and dealers, and repair shops were intensely involved in the maintenance, alteration, and retrofitting of existing vehicles with producer gas technology. A truck pulls into a small auto repair shop somewhere in Poland and the driver complains that his truck (Gaswagen) is just not performing right—not enough power. Well, let's see—the generator may be leaking, or the flapper valves may have been knocked out of shape, or the blower may have a burned-out motor, or there may be bullet holes from strafing by a low-flying enemy airplane or from artillery fragments. Would any repair shop turn the driver away and insist that they only repaired vehicles that still operated with liquid fuels—and NOT producer gas? Of course, not.

The abundance of producer gas and its intense development by every part of the German automotive industry from major vehicle manufacturers such as Mercedes-Benz and Volkswagen—including even German subsidiaries of Ford, General Motors and International Harvesters, down to the smallest repair shops anywhere in German-occupied Europe—are all facts which thoroughly undermine the holocaust gassing claims. The intense development of this poison-gas technology is clearly spelled in the German automotive literature throughout the war; one has merely to look at almost any issue of ATZ Automobiltechnische Zeitschrift from the war to see many articles and advertisements showing the latest developments in this real poison-gas technology. However, since there is NO connection to holocaust gassings, the postwar pseudo-historians have never bothered to even look at that literature. It undermines everything!

The “Eyewitnesses” Lied

All of the self-proclaimed “eyewitnesses” to the alleged mass gassings are, in fact, easily exposed as liars. And there are many new fraudulent “eyewitness” accounts as well. If one reads a dozen accounts even for the same location, one almost inevitably finds a dozen totally different stories except for, perhaps, one or two details. There is hardly any consistency among the eyewitnesses and yet, judges have consistently juggled the evidence—a bit of one story here, added to a bit of another story there—to make the most damning judgements as to what supposedly happened. The historians, most notably RAUL HILBERG, did exactly that. They cherry-picked the evidence; they ignored and even suppressed what was obvious lunacy, and retained whatever might be believed. Prosecutors and defense lawyers are entitled to do such “cherry picking” in order to prod witnesses during a trial—but historians have no such excuse. They have time to reflect and do rigorous research free of the constraints that are inevitable in all legal trials.

SS disinfection officer and Obersturmführer KURT GERSTEIN is still a major prop for the Holocaust myth—and yet, all of his statements are generally ridiculous. HILBERG had cherry-picked the so-called “Gerstein Statement.” as he actually explained when he was on the witness stand at the trial of Ernst Zuendel in Toronto, Canada in 1988. HILBERG's use of KURT GERSTEIN is a prime example of the shoddiest scholarship imaginable—but GERSTEIN was, and still remains, the best reference HILBERG has.

The focus of GERSTEIN's “statements” was on diesel exhaust for mass murder in Belzec and Treblinka. Although he wrote about personally delivering Zyklon-B to some of the camps, he gave no specific information about Zyklon-B gassings even though that would have been the logical focus for his expertise. As a German disinfection officer he would have been extremely familiar with the widespread German use of Zyklon-B to save millions of lives especially in the east where typhus raged throughout the war and for years after the war as well..

The statements of Dr. Prof. WILHELM PFANNENSTIEL, a world-renowned professor of hygiene, in numerous post-war court appearances are incredible also. Only the smallest portion of his testimony ever appears anywhere. The statements of second-string “eyewitnesses” such as FILIP MÜLLER (Eyewitness Auschwitz: Three Years in the Gas Chambers) or RUDOLF VRBA are even worse than that of GERSTEIN. In his most famous book Night, ELIE WIESEL neglected to even mention gas chambers anywhere in his book. According to Wiesel, the Nazis committed mass murder of the Jews by simply marching the victims directly into flaming pits—in other words, there was no need for gas chambers.

Pro-Nazi Collaboration by Elie Wiesel and hundreds of thousands of Jews

Although ELIE WIESEL is today the poster-boy of the “Holocaust,” he clearly “chose” to collaborate with the Nazis in January 1945 rather than be “liberated” by Soviet troops advancing on Auschwitz. Although he has become a kind of rock star at Davos economics conferences with his “moral voice,” even singing Sholom Aleichem in Yiddish, he never attends the, now annual, Auschwitz liberation celebrations in Auschwitz in January. The fees are not as good, perhaps?

New evidence has emerged, however, that Elie was not even at Auschwitz, ever, and that Elie Wiesel had simply assumed the identity of a much older relative who had been there. A recent essay by Carlo Mattogno presents new evidence casting the most serious doubts about everything Wiesel has ever claimed about his experiences at Auschwitz and even Buchenwald.

According to Night, it was in January 1945, just before the first Auschwitz “liberation” event, that both Elie and his dad trekked west with the Nazis in a terrible winter on foot by their own choice and assisted the Nazis during the last months of the war. They had both, just as many tens of thousands of other Jews, chosen in effect to c-o-l-l-a-b-o-r-a-t-e with the Nazis and work (no free ride waiting in a Gasthaus) to defend the Reich. Some of Wiesel's exact words in Night, paperback edition (Bantam Books, 1960) page 78 are:

“The choice was in our hands. For once we could decide our fate for ourselves. We could both stay in the hospital, where I could, thanks to my doctor, get him [the father] entered as a patient or nurse. Or else we could follow the others. ‘Well, what shall we do, father?’ He was silent. ‘Let’s be evacuated with the others,’ I told him.”

Elie's tale in this regard is corroborated by other "survivor" accounts including that of PRIMO LEVI. In Levi's book Survival in Auschwitz, we have his words for January 17th, 1945:

"It was not a question of reasoning: I would probably also have followed the instinct of the flock if I had not felt so weak: fear is supremely contagious, and its immediate reaction is to make one try to run away."

The Jews on "Schindler's List," just thirty miles to the east of Auschwitz, also chose to collaborate and went west eagerly also rather than hang back, or hide, or go east to be "liberated" by the Soviets. Their last months of the war were spent in what is now the Czech Republic making ammunition (all supposedly "defective and useless" by their postwar accounts) for the Nazis until they were "liberated" by Soviet troops in May of 1945. Of course, they could have been "liberated" six months earlier and put to work making ammunition for the Allies—but they had all chosen to collaborate with the Nazis instead.

The vast majority of the people who entered Auschwitz "survived" because there was absolutely NO extermination program. No one had even tried to kill them. Clearly, the Nazis could NOT possibly have been mass murderers as many of those same Jews alleged, WIESEL especially, after the war.

If OSKAR SCHINDLER had really been a clever savior of his Jewish workers, he could have simply found any number of places for his favorite 1,000 Jews (the chosen among the chosen) to hide from the SS for a few days until Soviet troops arrived and "liberated" them all. But he and they chose instead to flee west with the Nazis and SS, even going to or past Auschwitz just thirty miles to the west from Krakow and Plaszow. In effect, they ALL chose to collaborate instead of be "liberated" by Soviet troops who were so near. "Liberation" is what supposedly happened, after all, to the Jews who were NOT on Schindler's List. Is there any doubt about that? And those “liberated” Jews did not have to fear Auschwitz or any other horrors at the hands of the Nazis once they were “liberated” by the Soviets—right!!

We also learn from Israeli holocaust historian professor Israel Gutman that Jewish prisoners actually joined the march voluntarily. Here is testimony taken from Gutman’s book as given by Gilad Atzmon: ‘One of my friends and relatives in the camp came to me on the night of the evacuation and offered a common hiding place somewhere on the way from the camp to the factory. ... The intention was to leave the camp with one of the convoys and to escape near the gate, using the darkness we thought to go a little far from the camp. The temptation was very strong. And yet, after I considered it all I then decided to join (the march) with all the other inmates and to share their fate’ from Israel Gutman [editor], People and Ashes. Book Auschwitz - Birkenau, (Merhavia 1957) page 168. In commenting about this passage from Gutman, Gilad Atzmon has said: “I am left puzzled here, if the Nazis ran a death factory in Auschwitz-Birkenau, why would the Jewish prisoners join them at the end of the war? Why didn’t the Jews wait for their Red liberators?”

Isn’t it rather obvious than no one in his right mind wanted to be “liberated” by the Soviets. That is just one dirty little secret that is buried in the Jewish holocaust fables. Compared to the Soviets (America's greatest allies), even the Nazis and the SS from Auschwitz (the worst of the worst?) were preferred by the “survivors” of the mass extermination of more than a million Jews. It makes no sense at all, especially when one realizes how many Soviet leaders and officials were Jews also. Millions of Palestinians fled in terror a-w-a-y from the Israelis (not toward the Israelis!!) after the deliberate murder of merely hundreds, perhaps a few thousands, at Deir

Yassin and elsewhere. At Auschwitz, a million Jews had supposedly been murdered by the Nazis practically in front of the eyes of the “survivors.” And yet, those same “survivors” still preferred to endure the hardships of wartime travel in the depth of winter with, and continue to work with and for those very same Nazis—supposedly the greatest murderers of Jews in all of human history. It is unbelievable!

Did those “Auschwitz survivors” think, if they went west with the Nazis, they could at some point simply skedaddle over to the western Allies and offer themselves as witnesses to Nazi barbarism? Did they think the Nazis would really let them escape if they were worried about what these Jewish “survivors” and “eyewitnesses” might have to say? Clearly, what was happening was totally different from the horrible fairytale we have been given since the war. No doubt, the Jews went west with the Nazis because they knew the Nazis would keep them alive as best they could. The greatest danger they faced on their trek west was Allied bombing and strafing—and NOT the Nazis or SS at all.

The Klaus Zwilsky Scam

A photograph of the happy Holocaust survivor Klaus Zwilsky reminds us that Jews were easy enough to find in Nazi Germany, even throughout the war, and even in Berlin. Smiling Klaus lived in one of the most unique and unusual safe havens in full view of the Gestapo.

Few people realize that the Nazis allowed a Jewish hospital staffed by Jewish medical personnel and Jewish administrators to operate in Berlin – the heart of the Third Reich – throughout the entire war. The strange reasons behind this situation are presented in Daniel B. Silver's book Refuge in Hell: How Berlin's Jewish Hospital Outlasted the Nazis. The book details how the 800 or so Jews lived in the hospital and survived.

"We didn't know at the time," he said, that the Nazis were systematically executing Jews. "You find out all these things afterwards." Yes, folks—a-f-t-e-r the war. During the war itself and living in the very heart of the Nazi state, he never even imagined that there was any kind of extermination program of his fellow Jews. Is that amazing, or what? Soviet troops reaching Berlin in April of 1945 were so surprised to find any Jews alive in the city at all.

Klaus, the son of the hospital's pharmacist and a hospital administrator, lived at the hospital with his parents all through the war. With the collapse of the Third Reich in April 1945, Klaus Zwilsky was finally able to celebrate his Bar Mitzvah – the first one held in post-war Berlin. The real reason for why Klaus “survived” is that the Nazis never tried to kill him in the first place; they clearly wanted him and the 800 other Jews to survive. But not to worry, Zwilsky's status as a “survivor” was never challenged and he spent the next five decades as a bona fide survivor with all the rewards from German taxpayers that go with such status. Is the Shoah a fantastic business, or what?

ZYKLON-B: the misunderstood Lifesaver of Millions

RUDOLF VRBA achieved fame for his part in writing the famous VRBA–WETZLER Report of April 1944 on the basis of which many holocaust fanatics insist America should have bombed the tracks leading to the gas chambers of Auschwitz. One book which promotes this bit of lunacy is The Bombing of Auschwitz edited by NEUFELD and BERENBAUM, 2000. That book contains some of VRBA's claims on pages 242-248. According to VRBA and WETZLER, see page 244: “After three minutes everyone in the chamber is dead.” That never happened.

Anyone with any expertise on the subject, and there were many experienced experts in the US where gas executions were already quite common at that time, could have explained that gassings of the sort imagined by VRBA and others with Zyklon-B would have taken far, far longer than three minutes. At least two of the last eleven gas chamber executions in the US over the last thirty years (Walter La Grand, 1999, Florence AZ, Ricky Sanderson, 1998, Raleigh, NC) took 18 minutes to kill their victims in well-designed, cyanide gas chambers with a rapid and highly concentrated release of cyanide gas. It took 17 minutes to kill David Lawson, 1994, Raleigh NC.

Zyklon-B by contrast releases its cyanide so slowly that more than half-an-hour is needed for most of the cyanide to escape the granules—and then in addition, far more time (four hours—see below left) is also needed for the cyanide to disperse by convection throughout any gas chamber not equipped with circulation or Kreislauf. In addition, it takes about 2-1/2 hours for nearly all of the cyanide to escape from Zyklon-B at room temperature once a can has been emptied. That should give everyone a good general idea as to how slowly cyanide escapes from Zyklon-B—especially when compared with the pot method which releases nearly all of its cyanide within about five minutes, probably a lot less. After just three minutes (the alleged Nazi mass execution time), the escape of cyanide from the Zyklon-B has barely even begun; the vast bulk of the cyanide is still escaping regardless of how large, or small, the initial dosage of Zyklon-B granules was. Merely opening the doors after three minutes, or even 30 minutes, even with a fan running during venting will not provide good ventilation of the corpses at all since more cyanide is still escaping the granules. Unless the ventilation of the corpse-filled room continues for at least 2-1/2 hours, anyone entering the chamber without a gas mask during that time will succumb to the cyanide that is still coming out of the Zyklon-B granules.

Since there was no real “evidence” (such as autopsies or functioning gas chambers) to support the charges, the Allies did the next best thing which was to follow an old police rule which is: “if you have no evidence, try to get a confession.” The real basis of the “testimonials” cited again and again is the willful lying of self-described, Jewish “eyewitnesses” and lying on the part of some Germans under torture to either save their own lives or minimize the suffering of colleagues and family members. RUDOLF HOESS, for example, had to fear that his wife and children who had lived with him at Auschwitz would be tortured as well. The purpose of the Nuremberg trials was to perpetuate the racist propaganda against the German people forever using all the hype and hooplah possible. But even with all the sanctity of elaborate legal proceedings, with lawyers, stenographers, movie cameras, and CBS journalists in the court room—they could NOT make the nonsensical testimony any less nonsensical. The courts and torturers of the Grand Inquisitors of the middle ages could not actually make the sun go around the earth—even if everyone on earth had been persuaded to “testify” under oath that it did. The Allied courts in Nuremberg or in Guantanamo today are no better. Throwing revisionists in jail in Germany or anywhere merely shows, ultimately, how thoroughly depraved the hoaxers truly are and that the race war against the German people continues to this day, albeit by less violent means.

Alfred Wetzler und Rudolf Vrba

VRBA and WETZLER had obviously lied about the most important feature of their atrocity tale. Even if the intended victims had been assisting the fiendish nazis by taking deep breaths of the cyanide vapors, the execution times would have been far longer because of the slow rates with which cyanide leaves Zyklon-B granules unless it is actually forced out of the granules by warm air. That forcing process (forced circulation or Kreislauf) was common in gas chambers for delousing clothing, even in Birkenau's delousing stations only a hundred yards from the crematoria—but, strange as it may seem, it has never even been alleged that such logical methods were ever used for homicidal gassings of thousands of Jews daily in Birkenau, or anywhere else. Nothing even remotely close to what would have been needed has even been suggested in any of the Holocaust gassing stories. Without the gassing angle, the rest of the Holocaust legend, even if it were all true, has no “uniqueness.”

click for enlarged view and much more

Zyklon-B was widely used to fumigate clothing and countless other items which might harbor lice—which were the usual carrier of typhus to humans.

Zyklon-B gas chambers were widely used in German POW camps, and transit camps, and labor camps only to keep people alive. The Auschwitz camp was so huge that it served all three purposes.

The infamous “Vergasungskeller”

A single letter from SS-Hauptsturmführer BISCHOFF dated January 29, 1943 contains the word “Vergasungskeller” and is to this day the strongest evidence for the mass extermination hoax with cyanide (see Pressac page 211 [\[link\]](#)). The word has several possible translations, the most literal being a “cellar where gas is released, or generated.” It has been given the most sinister meaning possible by the exterminationists who insist that it must have been a place where people were gassed to death. But, the word is actually explained by a related letter, also from Bischoff, dated December 18, 1942 (see Pressac page 210 [\[link\]](#)) in which the very first sentence says: “Im Monat Dezember musste wegen Entlausung und Entwesung die Arbeit an mehreren Tagen ruhen.. (During the month of December work had to be stopped for several days because of delousing and disinfestation.)” It is clear enough that the fumigations were occurring somewhere within the building—or else, why would there have been any need to stop work? The work was actually stopped for days (Pressac actually mistranslated the text) and delayed completion of this urgently needed crematorium. The surrender of five million Soviet soldiers to the Germans by this time would have been a major reason for completing these Kremas as quickly as possible. But obviously, the need for “delousing and disinfestation” was even greater.

Some historians using the shabby logic of HILBERG will, no doubt, continue to insist that the words “delousing and disinfestation” were merely euphemisms for mass murder—but even Pressac insists (see Pressac page 227 [\[link\]](#)) that the first homicidal gassing occurred on March 14, 1943. This was just a day after the crematorium was finished—but nearly three months after life-saving fumigations had been carried out in the incomplete structure over several days. In other words, rather than being a place off mass murder, the Vergasungskeller was actually used to keep people alive. These are just some examples of how life-saving activities—shaving of hair and showering are other examples—have been turned upside down and made to appear as “evidence” of mass murder, in other words, the extreme opposite of their true function. The hoaxers have nothing better. Out of necessity, the underground mortuary rooms also served whatever other purposes seemed most important—from simple storage, or as workrooms, and even as gas-tight bombhelms (with the legally-required peepholes in their doors) and with hand-operated ventilators.

Cremation and Incineration in Kremas 2 and 3 with POISON GAS from Coke

Cremation and crematoria are mis-used explain the fact that there simply is no forensic medical or scientific evidence (like autopsies) of any gassings. Supposedly, all of the physical evidence went up in smoke. How convenient for those who might otherwise be pressed for real evidence for their paranoid fantasy. Many thousands of dead bodies (from other causes, primarily disease) were found in the camps at the end of the war, but all of the “gassing” victims had been vaporized. supposedly.

Clay urns found at the Buchenwald concentration camp

Where one should expect huge crematory ovens, or incinerators to dispose of enormous numbers of bodies, with co-mingling of the remains and fuel ash—one finds instead, small crematory ovens designed to burn only one body at a time consistent with ordinary cremations as practiced around the world.

Click image to the left for an enlarged view. The remains from corpses were put into individual urns and returned to family members. In other words, there was nothing at all like the “assembly-line killing and/or disposal of bodies” that has been alleged. To appreciate the disaster that Germany and much of Europe, especially eastern Europe, were dealing with—one should read Earth-Burial and Cremation about disease and the necessity for cremation in nineteenth century America.

Cremation only makes sense if one intends to return a portion of the actual ashes of a corpse to the true family members; otherwise, cremation makes no sense at all. Cremation is distinguished from incineration by the fact that cremation, in the West, allows recovery of the deceased person's ashes free of the ashes from other corpses or of the fuel. The clean ash that results is totally worthless compared to the far greater costs of the coal, or coke, needed to produce it. The claim that the Nazis made fertilizer from the bones is a bad joke indeed. Crematory ovens are specially designed to allow recovery of ashes from one corpse at a time free of any other ash, either from the coal or coke used as fuel or from another corpse. Such a careful recovery of ashes only makes sense if one intends to return something from the deceased to the family. In other words, the purpose of cremation is to preserve, at least some, evidence.

Clay pots for the ashes of prisoners who were cremated

Click image to the right for an enlarged view. If one intended to merely destroy evidence of mass murder, incineration as is commonly practiced for garbage disposal would be many times quicker and more efficient in every respect, especially in terms of the amounts of fuel consumed. One could still gather enough ashes to fill urns and deceive family members but, oddly enough, it has never been claimed in any of the Holocaust literature that garbage incinerators were ever used for anything but garbage. Even the incinerators within Kremas 2 and 3 in Birkenau have never been implicated. The startling fact is that by practicing cremation the Nazis and the SS went to considerable lengths and expense to treat the dead with genuine respect even when many of the dead were Jews. See also Documents F1 and F2 in Pressac, page 133.

A new perspective on the problems of mass incinerations come from the foot-and- mouth epidemic in the UK in 2001. Countless articles with pictures and videos help show the magnitude of what anything like the alleged holocaust mass exterminations would have entailed. At least one video is helpful for showing the enormous clouds of smoke generated by the fires.

Click the image left for an enlarged view.

The following quote describes the technique for a cattle and pig incineration in 1967:

The pyre

A trench 250 yards long was dug and lined with straw. Wooden railway sleepers were then laid across the straw followed by cows with pigs placed in between. This whole site was then covered with 2 feet of straw, sprayed with 600 gallons of diesel and lit. The fire lit the day and night sky for 2 days and at the end only ash remained.

If all one wanted to do was save space and avoid burial, garbage incinerators or lime kilns or brick kilns would have been the logical choice—NOT crematory ovens. The garbage incinerators within Kremas 2 and 3 or even larger incinerators specially built for that purpose certainly could have done the job and far more efficiently in terms of labor, equipment cost and cost of fuel. The crematory ovens from Topf & Sons at Birkenau could only cremate one normal-sized body at a time. The reasons are fairly simple. If one puts more than one normal-sized corpse into a standard crematory oven, one is likely to make contact between a corpse and the firebrick. This must be strictly avoided because of uneven heating of the firebrick and subsequent exfoliation and rapid deterioration of the expensive, refractory fire brick. The essential difference between garbage incinerators and crematory ovens is that a garbage incinerator allows co-mingling of fly ash from the fuel with the garbage residue whereas a crematory applies the external heat indirectly to keep the cremains as pure as possible. A garbage incinerator can have the coal fire directly below the grating that supports the garbage as it burns. At the end of the process, the coal ash and the garbage ashes are all mixed together. That would have been intolerable for human cremation. But, if one were engaged in mass murder, why would anyone care?

Some of the drawings from Pressac which clearly show the location of the garbage incinerator are:

page 277 <http://www.holocaust-hist...ration/pressac0277.shtml>

page 278 <http://www.holocaust-hist...ration/pressac0278.shtml>

page 281 <http://www.holocaust-hist...ration/pressac0281.shtml>

page 283 <http://www.holocaust-hist...ration/pressac0283.shtml>

The drawings also show that there are no doorways to allow easy movement of personnel or corpses from the crematory oven area to the garbage incinerating area--except by leaving the building. Such doorways would be rather natural to allow personnel to move to all parts of a building without first leaving the building--but, here such passage has been deliberately obstructed. No doubt, the designers did not want any corpses to be treated as garbage, ever--an understated but clear sign of the respect with which corpses were treated, even if some of them were Jews.

From page 488 of Pressac we have the following testimony by Henryk Tauber about the Muellverbrennungsofen, garbage incinerator ovens, and how they were separated from the rest of the Krema buildings:

A prisoner mechanic worked on their maintenance. Facing the entrance gate to the crematorium grounds, in the center of the building, was a wing [27] in which rubbish was burnt in an incinerator [U]. It was called "Muellverbrennung[sofen]" (waste incinerator). It was separate, reached by going down a stairway [28, still visible in the ruins]. It was surrounded by an iron platform and was coal fired. The entrance [27a] to the waste incinerator wing faced the crematorium access gate. [The facade of] this wing had, in addition to its entrance door with a transom window over it, two windows, one on the right [27b] and one on the left [27c] of the entrance, In the left corner of the entrance, there was an opening [27d] through which, from a walled-off area on the outside [29], the objects to be burned were passed inside. The incineration hearth [or hearths?] [M] for these things was [/were?] to the left of the entrance and the firebox [G] on the right. I would point out that it was in this particular furnace that the documents of the Political Section of the camp were always burned. From time to time, the SS would bring whole truckloads of papers, documents and files that had to be burned under their control. During the incineration of these papers, I noticed great stacks of records of dead people and death notices ["Totenmeldung"]. We were not able to take any of these documents because we were operating under the close and direct surveillance of the SS. Behind the waste incinerator, at the end of the wing, was a chimney for all the cremation furnaces and the incinerator. At first, there were around this chimney three electric motors used for the draught ["Saugzuanlage / suction type] forced draught installation"]. Because of the heat given off and the proximity of the incinerator, these motors often broke down. There was even a fire on one occasion. Because of these problems, they were later removed and the [underfloor] smoke flues of the cremation furnaces were connected directly to the chimney. A door [27e] allowed passage between the waste incinerator wing and the part where the chimney was. This part being slightly higher, it was reached by a few steps [28]. After the motors were removed some wash basins for the Sonderkommando were installed next to the chimney [30] [Dr Miklos Nyiszli speaks of "a beautiful ten-man shower made of gleaming tile" (page 60), which was certainly supplied with water heated by the incinerator], and in the other part on the opposite side looking towards the undressing room. there was a room [31] where Obercapo [chief Capo] August sometimes slept.

A Bauleitung drawing (see enlarged view below) shows the locations of the corresponding doorways and other features as indicated by the reference numbers given in the quoted text. Any mention of human bodies being burned there is remarkable for its total absence--not only in the text above but also in the wildest anecdotes of Henryk Tauber or any other self-described "eyewitnesses." The Nazis did not do that sort of thing and clearly built the garbage disposal area to make that as inconvenient as possible. There was NO co-mingling of human remains with garbage, even when some of the human remains were from Jews.

The Nazis really were the Good Guys!

Note that room 30 (with "wash basins for the Sonderkommando") and room 31 ("where Obercapo [chief Capo] August sometimes slept") were separated from the waste incinerator by a solid partition wall without any doorways.

John C. Zimmerman and others have tried to overcome the severe technical limitations of crematory ovens by claiming the Nazis used open air burnings to dispose of an unlimited number of corpses. No doubt, there were some open air burnings but there were also other alternatives such as garbage incinerator ovens (Müllverbrennungsofen) which have never, ever been implicated anywhere. Both Crema 2 and 3 at Birkenau had such garbage incinerator ovens within the very same buildings--but they have never been implicated, ever. Why? Excess corpses could have simply been brought from the crematory oven room through a doorway to the incinerator--but according to the building drawings, there was no interior doorway. Why? But in addition, the Nazis could have built or used BIG OVENS to begin with such as brick kilns or lime kilns. As soon as one is no longer concerned about co-mingling of cremains, even with fuel ash, the technical problems become simple by comparison. When they rebuilt the three-muffle ovens with new refractory brick, they could have been thoroughly rebuilt to burn far, far more corpses albeit with lots of co-mingling. Also, if one no longer cares about producing esthetically pleasing white ash, one can get away from expensive coke as a fuel and use ordinary coal or even wood as a fuel. But the Nazis used coke in the Kremas--go figure!

For a healthy dose of reality regarding cremation possibilities and absurdities, the following videos from Ernst ZUENDEL are excellent:

Part 1: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dDUYVO1clC0&feature=related>

Part 2: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=6454kBb7QBk&feature=related>

Part 3: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=gHzaz0mK3Ms&feature=related>

Refractory brick as shown by Lagace in Part 1 is actually rather s-o-f-t and can even be cut with an ordinary saw quite easily. Such brick is however extremely expensive ($60 per brick versus $1 for ordinary brick) in order to withstand the temperatures with its aluminum oxide and yet, it is also rather delicate--all the more reason to heat Crema muffles carefully, and slowly, and evenly--and to cool them carefully, and slowly, and evenly as well.

These videos convey the technical information extremely well, and quickly. For all his commendable research and vast scholarship, Carlo Mattogno has not provided anything more persuasive than these videos. Ernst Zuendel deserves enormous credit also for what he put together. A crematorium in Japan excused itself recently after the big earthquake by saying that it could only cremate 18 corpses per day to which some exterminationists suggested they must have had only muffle in their crematorium. The testimony in the Zuendel videos suggests they must have two muffles, at the very least.

During cremation there are essentially three stages. In the first stage, the corpse temperature is raised to the boiling point of water and all moisture is removed. In the second stage the corpse temperature is raised to the temperature at which the dried corpse self-ignites. Finally, the corpse consumes itself from its own fuel. During this last stage, the highest temperatures are reached which consume the bones as well. (The bones are almost totally consumed the exceptions are generally the hip, skull and teeth.) If at this time the corpse is in direct contact with the firebrick, the uneven heating of some of the bricks will cause them to crack.

A great deal of effort has been directed at determining the actual amounts of coal, or coke, or wood one would need to cremate a body. The margin of error for any such calculations has to be enormous when one recognizes that the degree to which a body is cremated can vary enormously depending on one's objective. If one merely wants to sterilize the remains so that whatever is recovered afterward is no public health danger to the water supply, then the amounts of fuel needed can be rather small. If one wants to generate at least enough white powder to fill an urn for the benefit and comfort of believed family members, the amounts of fuel and the cremation temperatures must be greater. If on the other hand, one wants to totally destroy all trace of the body including the bones, the amounts of fuel will be greatest of all—even when larger bone fragments are pulverized as well. A hard and fast number based even on body weight is simply impossible. It would seem that if the Nazis and SS were simply trying to cremate as many corpses as possible to protect the water supply, there should be many large bone fragments available somewhere, still today.

One can check out the following: link from Wikipedia from which the following quote is taken:

Modern cremators have adjustable control systems that monitor the furnace during cremation. These systems automatically monitor the interior to tell when the cremation process is complete, after which the furnace shuts down automatically. The time required for cremation thus varies from body to body, and in modern furnaces may be as fast as one hour per 45 kilograms (99 lb) of body weight. [In other words, a 150 lb corpse needs 1-1/2 hours, and a 200 lb corpse needs 2 hours]

A cremation furnace is not designed to cremate more than one body at a time, something that is illegal in many countries, including the U.S. Exceptions are sometimes made in extreme cases, such as of a deceased mother and her still-born child or still-born twins, but in these cases the mother and child must be placed in the same cremation container.

See also the following linked essay about Human Cremation Equipment and the advertisement from Cremation Systems Equipment and the cremation times involved.

Something new which is now clear to me is that the Auschwitz-Birkenau crematory ovens used “producer gas” which in German is known also as Generatorgas. (If the gas was generated from wood it was also called “Holzgas”—meaning “woodgas” in English) And what is Generatorgas? It is primarily carbon monoxide (at least 18%) with a few percent of hydrogen and methane—see the discussions of producer gas in connection with its use in hundreds of thousands of motor vehicles including Gaswagons or “gas vans,” elsewhere on this website. Most important is the fact that it is also highly toxic. If that gas were cooled, as it was in hundreds of thousands of wartime trucks, and where it was used as fuel—it would also have been an ideal gas for mass murder.

Carlo Mattogno has over many years written many excellent essays and books about the crematoria in Germany's concentration camps. See, for example, “The Crematoria Ovens of Auschwitz and Birkenau” which he wrote in collaboration with Franco Deana. Where the term “coke-fired gas generator” often appears, one should also read: “coke-fired POISON GAS generator.” Mattogno and many others (including myself until recently) have totally failed to recognize this enormously important fact as best as I can tell. This simple fact makes the extermination claims even more absurd and unbelievable than they already are. The gas from the coke-fired gas generator could have been directed into the alleged gas chambers where it would have, because of the high CO content, killed any number of victims quickly and easily. The high temperature of the gas could have been reduced easily enough just as in hundreds of thousands of trucks and motor vehicles—or the temperature could have also pre-cooked the victims as well. That would have been a kind of industrial assembly-line efficiency that would have made even the most demented Nazi-fiend proud if one believes crackpot scholars like Daniel Goldhagen—but, it never happened, and it has never even been alleged.

The reason there was little to no fly ash to contaminate the cremains of corpses was that the AB crematory ovens used "coke" and NOT coal. The producer gas generated from the coke was relatively clean, perhaps very clean. The corpses were heated "indirectly" in the good old days, before WW2--but as time went on and the technology improved, they were able to use the "producer gas" directly just as many more modern ovens use natural gas directly. With a clean-burning gas as fuel--natural gas, or producer gas from coke--there simply is little fly ash, if any at all, to being with.

If the fiendish Nazis did not care about contamination, they could have used ordinary coal as fuel and saved themselves lots and lots of money. They could have heated the corpses directly over burning beds of coal, and very efficiently. The fact the Nazis did use coke--and off to the side--shows once again that they they really did care about the esthetic sensibilities of their supposed victims' families.

Much has been made by exterminationists of an infamous letter from SS-Hauptsturmführer BISCHOFF dated January 29, 1943 in which the term "Vergasungskeller" appears. We can now understand perfectly what that really means and it is NOT sinister at all. It simply meant the long underground room from which coke was fed into the generators of the five crematory ovens and the garbage incinerator oven. It could have been used to store some corpses in a pinch as well before the Kremas were actually completed in early 1943—so what!

Some Conclusions about the HOAX

"It is error only, and not truth, that shrinks from inquiry." Thomas Paine

The holocaust hoax is anti-German racism gone wild; it is a form of collective lunacy, even a new kind of religion. The alleged gassings never happened. The myth is based on the widely held delusion, promoted in the US by the government itself, that gas executions are technically simple, quick and even relatively painless. During and after WW2, routine life-saving German measures using cyanide gas and Zyklon-B to keep people alive were deliberately misrepresented as devices for mass extermination. Actual mass murders committed by the Allies have been blamed on the Germans.

Supposedly, the Nazis used a vast network of camps and facilities as well as elaborate legal ruses to exterminate millions of Jews while at the same time never producing even a single document anywhere discussing homicidal gassings; their deliberate, euphemistic doubletalk was so highly perfected because they, supposedly, knew that it could all be used against them someday. And yet, when the war was over, many of the very same arch criminals at the heart of the mass exterminations and the elaborate coverup were supposedly “freely” and “voluntarily” admitting to direct involvement in murdering millions. How can anyone be so stupid and naive as to believe any of that?

Today, Germany is ruled by criminals. The German people deserve the same human rights as everyone else—including the right to dispute all holocaust-related claims regardless of who might be offended, even if they are Jews. The continuing imprisonment and censorship of revisionists are crimes against humanity. All of Germany's political leaders today deserve to be severely punished for their bigotry and crimes against their own people.

A variety of foul lawyers' tactics are used to rationalize censorship including the argument that holocaust revisionists can not possibly believe what they say and, therefore, the suppression of their statements does not truly amount to suppression of dissent. This is a perverse and obscene line of false argument. No one has the moral right or even legal right to imprison anyone, even in a mental hospital—for expressing doubt or disbelief in the holocaust. ANY such imprisonment is a violation of the basic human rights under the UN Charter Article 19 which has been signed by most of the countries of the world, including the very same countries which now imprison holocaust revisionists. Countries, people, or courts that imprison people for holocaust revisionism are criminals themselves and deserve to be severely punished.

Regardless of what happened during WW2—and regardless of what someone thinks revisionists might truly believe, in their opinion—everyone has the right to freely express a contrary view. No one has any moral right or legal right to force people to remain silent except during a time of war or extreme emergency. To argue that one view of history is acceptable while another constitutes “libel” against “victims” (Jews specifically), or whomever, would make almost any investigation into historical issues impossible. That applies to any subject regardless of whether it is 9/11, or the JFK assassination, or the holocaust hoax, or any other subject.. Bigots beware!

Beyond Holocaust Hoax Denial

After the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbour, my parents were nearly imprisoned because of their active opposition to America's increasing involvement in WW2 long before the Japanese attack. My father, a mechanical engineer, was considered useful, however, to America's war effort. When I was born in 1943, it was not in an American concentration camp. As I grew up after the war with a distinctly German name, I was often the target of anti-German prejudice but I took that in stride just as people from many other minorities have also withstood prejudice against them. At least in America, one had freedom of speech, and economic opportunity, and many other advantages that gave one good reason to be thankful to be an American. But, I did not feel “proud to be American.” Just what was it that I, or any American, should have been proud of?

When I began my study of the holocaust extermination claims more than thirty years ago, my purpose was merely to unravel the anti-German claims about homicidal gas chambers. I had been turned on to the subject very suddenly in 1974 by a 28-page pamphlet entitled: Did Six Million Really Die? I was intrigued by the bizarre claim that the Nazis had supposedly used diesel exhaust for mass murder in Treblinka, Belzec and Sobibor. As an experienced engineer with a degree in mining engineering and with many field trips to underground mines, it was obvious to me that the diesel exhaust theory was far too wacky to have any merit—but, my explanations became rather complex technically and, over many intervening years, I have, no doubt, bored many audiences and readers.

The widespread use of poison gas or Holzgas as an alternative fuel throughout German-occupied Europe was additional graphic proof that the diesel exhaust murder accusation was too absurd to be believed, indefinitely. It also became clear, albeit very gradually, that all the other gassing claims are purest rubbish also. There was a wilful misuse of real humane German measures to keep POW's and Jews alive and to portray those lifesaving measures as part of an extermination program instead.. It is also clear now that the western Allies, especially the Americans, are in fact guilty of far more horrendous, real crimes against the Germans, Japanese, Koreans and Vietnamese. Those real American war crimes are far worse than anything the Nazis were ever accused of committing. But there is no sense of shame for those real, cowardly, despicable American atrocities. On the contrary, Americans salute their flag and pledge allegiance as if they never did anything wrong to anyone. They really are criminally insane.

The deliberate mass murder of totally innocent civilians by incineration is the great Anglo-American contribution to military science. Americans and Brits deliberately r-o-a-s-t-e-d women and children and babies to death by the tens of thousands. If the Nazis had murdered innocent people in gas chambers, such horrific, fictional crimes would have still been humane and even civilized compared to what the US and Britain actually did. The arch war criminals of all time are, in fact, the Americans and it is they, not the Germans, who should hang their heads in shame forever.

The ultimate genocidal maniacs and exterminationists were, and still are, the Americans. They have nothing to be proud of. They have no reason to feel self-righteous about anything.

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER epitomized the American-Jewish madness and depravity when he expressed well-orchestrated shock and righteous indignation over the handful of bodies (perhaps 20 bodies, cause of death—unknown) that were proudly displayed at Buchenwald for him, and PATTON, and American reporters on April 13, 1945. Had EISENHOWER and his motley crew never seen bodies of civilians murdered in Allied air attacks? Was he really blind to what America and Britain were doing in WW2. What did he think happened when British and American air forces bombed countless German cities, like Dresden two months earlier (see the image below and click to enlarge), Hamburg and Würzburg (one month earlier)? Was Eisenhower oblivious to the fact that Allied generals and leaders like himself, aided and abetted by tens of thousands of “ordinary,” and “good” Americans and Brits had turned entire cities into crematory ovens? Was there ever a greater display of sanctimonious hypocrisy? Were these guys the most thoroughly insane and depraved creatures to ever walk the planet—or what? 9/11 was merely a taste of America's own medicine.

The air war against innocent civilians was begun by the British—NOT by the Germans. It was the British who had begun the deliberate war on civilian targets (with American approval) as early as May 11, 1940 to which the Germans reluctantly responded with their first attack on London only on September 7, 1940 (after five major attacks on Berlin) nearly four months later. It was all supported by an enthusiastic American press led by such journalistic, award-winning “giants” as EDWARD R. MURROW from CBS. CBS was led in turn by its Jewish CEO, WILLIAM F. PALEY.

Today, the holocaust hoax is the continuation of America's insane, racist war against the German people and the German nation by less violent means. The Morgenthau Plan and the planned extermination of the German people would, no doubt, have actually occurred if Stalin had not frightened the Anglo-American heroes into changing their plans. The Germans were still needed to protect them and western civilization, once again, from communism. Without German troops and military genius, America's performance in Korea and Vietnam was monumentally pathetic.

No doubt, neither Britain nor America would have ever sunk as low as they did if it had not been for the vast power and influence of the most thoroughly racist people on the planet, namely the Jews. The Jews had reduced Germany to ashes just as they had supposedly reduced Jericho and Sodom and Gomorrah with the help of their racist god. At the end of WW2, the Jews found to their utter amazement that among the ashes in Germany, there were also the remains of some Jews—shock, horror, awe—for which the entire whole world must beg forgiveness and chant “Never Again! Although “historians” may not want to become “anti-Semitic” when they begin their studies of WW2, they certainly must ultimately become “anti-Semitic” if they follow the evidence to where it truly leads.

Here I use the term “anti-Semitic” in the same way that Jews today use the term, meaning “anti-Jewish.” Truth itself is anti-Semitic.

The complete destruction of Germany had been the Jewish goal long before WW2 even began. “For months now the struggle against Germany is waged by each Jewish community, at each conference, in all our syndicates, and by each Jew all over the world. There is reason to believe that our part in this struggle has general value. We will trigger a spiritual and material war of all the world against Germany's ambitions to become once again a great nation, to recover lost territories and colonies. But our Jewish interests demand the complete destruction of Germany.

Collectively and individually, the German nation is a threat to us Jews.” -

VLADIMIR JABOTINSKY (founder of the Jewish terrorist group, Irgun Zvai Leumi) in Mascha Rjetsch, January, 1934 (also quoted in “Histoire de l'Armée Allemande” by Jacques Benoist-Mechin, Vol. IV, p. 303). The above quote is only one of many that one can find which show the almost universal Jewish obsession for war against Germany—even as early as March of 1933. Is it any wonder that Jews, albeit with many exceptions, were put in German concentration camps and or expelled when the war finally arrived?

The Real Mass Murderers were the Jews themselves

In general, Jews were treated extremely well by the Nazis, and the SS and the Germans; Jews have nothing to complain about. Can anyone in his right mind seriously imagine that the Germans would not have interned the Jews? And, so what? Until the very last months of the war when the Anglo-American terror bombing had its most horrible effects on Germany, there was nothing comparable to the horrible scenes at Bergen-Belsen in March and April, 1945 anywhere, ever. The real mass murderers during WW2 were the Jews themselves. Masses of gentile soldiers did the actual fighting and dying after having been whipped up by the Jews with the vilest lies and propaganda that the human mind can conceive. No lie was too outrageous for their “Good War.” Their whining and scamming since the war is outrageous. No doubt, some Jews were shot in Russia and elsewhere by the Germans, including innocent Jews—but the true numbers are minuscule compared to what is claimed. Since the war was their doing for which they had worked so hard, they have nothing to complain about. They got their dirty war, perhaps good and hard—but if so, so what? In any event, the gassing claims are absolute rubbish.

Ultimately, the Jews condemn themselves—and vindicate the Nazis and Germans for the Final Solution policy to expel Jews from Germany and Europe forever. Today, we are on the verge of putting ground troops into Pakistan, and Yemen. We are moving ever closer to a third World War over Iran—even with thermonuclear weapons possibly in order to make Israel secure and “prevent another holocaust.” That's what it is really all about. Americans should look at themselves and ask: “why?”

The so-called “Death March” from Auschwitz

According to the holocaust myth : “The death marches were to stop the prisoners appearing in newsreels and recounting their horrific experiences.”

If there were any truth to that statement, why were thousands of Jews and others left in Auschwitz by the retreating Nazis and SS for the Russians to “liberate” and use for their propaganda? The number of such prisoners, including twins, left for the Russians that I have seen recently is “7,000.”

The fact is that the holocaust theory is rubbish. The so-called “death march” was NOT at all to kill the tens of thousands of Jews and others who had all “chosen” to go west. It could only have been a rather humane attempt to help these people avoid the inevitable horrors of the Soviets. No doubt, many deaths occurred along the "march" to the west from the misery of the ordeal—but, the worst killers were the Allied bombers and fighter planes, piloted by depraved cowards, who found it so much safer to murder refugees, even Jews, on the ground in trains or on foot rather than attack armed German soldiers who might shoot back and kill them instead.

But, by their HUMANE measures to bring Jews to the west safely,(for the benefit of Jews who I suspect were at least in some cases still under quarantine against typhus) the Germans and SS inadvertently helped bring about the typhus epidemics in the west in places like Bergen-Belsen during the last chaotic months of the war. It was those horrors and medical catastrophes that are the "real" (but false) basis for most people for the holocaust claims, including the gassing claims. So, by their humanity toward the Jews, the Nazis and SS inadvertently brought about their own vilification. The real mass murderers were the western Allies. The Nazis and the SS were heroes! If they had merely wanted to hide evidence of some alleged "fiendishness," they could have done that so easily and simply lied about it afterward as the Allies had done throughout the war and continue to do to this very day.

The Jewish portrayal of the evacuation of Auschwitz as a "death march" merely shows, once again, how something that was humane and decent on the part of the Nazis and SS has been turned on its head and portrayed as the complete opposite. This is typical of the Jewish propaganda. Other examples of such gross distortion are the use of Zyklon-B and crematoria, showering and the shaving of body hair--but there so many more examples as well.

The following page <http://www.air-photo.com/english/denial.html> is from John Ball's Air-Photo Evidence site. Some of the highlights include:

- 1. U.S. and German top-level government officials talked with each other through Swiss and Irish consuls in 1944 and '45 about the condition of inmates in German-operated camps,
- 2. In 1944 German officials denied any intention to mass-murder inmates,
- 3. Germany guaranteed to evacuate inmates ahead of Soviet advance,
- 4. Former camp inmates confirmed inmates were being safely evacuated.

In addition, there are scans of two letters between the Allies and Germany regarding the disposition of the inmates from Auschwitz-Birkenau. The Nazis really were the "Good Guys." Get used to it, folks!

If you get away with it, crime pays very well — and American “Success” is the best proof of that America has been praising itself to the heavens ever since the last Great Depression—and getting away with it, in large part because it won WW2 and looted everything of value from Germany. That loot from Germany was the basis of America's undeserved success for the next sixty years. Even before the end of the war in Europe on May 8, 1945, the USA had begun the systematic, official LOOTING of everything in Germany that could be of any military, scientific, technical or commercial value using highly trained teams of engineers, scientists, and technicians with photographers and stenographers. The stolen information about German technology—with countless chemical and mathematical formulas, for example—was put into reports which were printed, bound and available to anyone in the US, including corporations, for the minimal cost of the paper and printing of those reports. Many were available for less than a dollar. Britain did essentially the same thing with reports for its citizens. The US reports were called F.I.A.T. reports for “Field Intelligence Agency, Technical.” Others were known as C.I.O.S. (Combined Intelligence Objectives Subcommittee) and B.I.O.S.(British Intelligence Objectives Subcommittee). Major libraries throughout the country, including the Columbia University Engineering School's library which I used, were repositories of entire collections of these reports of looted technology — and open to everyone.

Germany was to be reduced to nothing more than farmland in accordance with the Morgenthau Plan—but not before everything of value was stolen.

Many of the details appear in an excellent new book in German by Friedrich Georg, Unternehmen Patentraub 1945. (Tübingen: Grabert Verlag 2008). An important document in English appears on page 53 describing the so-called “German Documents Conference” (Germans were NOT invited). More than 1600 tons of German documents had to be dealt with somehow at this special conference from October 22-25, 1945. Simply returning the documents to the rightful German owners was out of the question for the victorious criminals. The intent, clearly, was to destroy all documents which were NOT useful to the victors. No doubt, documents exonerating German defendants accused of atrocities would NOT have been useful to the victors either. An American document giving the conclusions of the “German Documents Conference” is still not available.

See also John Gimbel.

With the above document, we may have an explanation here for the apparent absence of key documents relating to the so-called “holocaust,” especially to the actual resettlement of Jews in eastern Europe. To avoid the enormous possibilities for corruption and bribery, there would have been meticulous records for the disposal and/or dispersal of Jews, by whatever means—whether that meant “resettlement” or “extermination.” The absence of such record-keeping on the part of German bureaucrats, of all people, is totally inconceivable and contrary to the German national character which loves detailed record-keeping.. A cover-up, if there had been mass extermination, would have surely included a vast paper trail, somewhere, even if only a fraudulent one, to disguise an extermination program.

In the NY Times and Scientific American magazine articles appeared after the war encouraging everyone to buy the F.I.A.T reports and use the information to make products of every sort without fear of patent violation so long as the information was not protected by valid American patents. “Help yourselves folks, and corporations, to what our heroes have just stolen in Germany”— that was the message in essence. Many corporations bought entire sets of the reports and used them for decades. Since Germany was to be reduced to farmland in keeping with the Jewish Morgenthau Plan, Germany would have no use for any of that “intellectual property” anyway. The “real” war criminals were, as we should all know by now, the Allies—especially the Americans.

Among the countless ideas S-T-O-L-E-N were the patents and technology for the world's first programmable electronic computers, magnetic tape recording (essential for computers for decades), jet engines, rocket propelled aircraft, the first jet aircraft, swept wing aircraft technology, operational helicopters, guided liquid-fueled missiles of every sort, electron microscopes, semiconductors and the first transistors, many pesticides, synthetic fuels, rubber and motor oils, and fertilizers from coal and even oil shale, gas turbine technology to drive ships and tanks, hydrofoil boats, infra-red night-fighting equipment, birth control pills, and on and on.

The dollar value of all that loot is incalculable but certainly exceeded 10 billion dollars in WW2 dollars based on some known negotiations after the war between the US and the Soviet Union. By contrast, Germany's portion of the Marshall Plan aid was only 1.25 billion dollars whereas Britain and France each received double that amount. What Germany received was barely enough to cover the wristwatches, cameras and other “souvenirs” STOLEN by American GI’s from German POW’s and ordinary civilians. What did America actually invent in the last century and a half, if anything? How many Americans have any idea that even the automobile, the gasoline engine, the diesel engine and the airplane were all German inventions? By countless pseudo-legal frauds, the rightful German inventors were never able to gain patent protection in the US. Today, China is doing nothing worse than what America did throughout the last century and a half.

The Nazis and Hitler put the World into Space

The German liquid-fueled rocket engine from WW2 is the basis of nearly everything the world has learned about the universe through space exploration since the war. The Hubble telescope, for example, would have been impossible without Nazi technology. No one other than the Germans was even remotely close to developing that technology. By contrast, ROBERT H. GODDARD's work in America in the 1930's was an endless series of total failures. He had no idea as to the magnitude of the technical problems just as the US Navy had no idea when it tried to impress the world with the Vanguard rocket in 1957. The launch attempt was a fiasco.

It was WERNHER VON BRAUN and his German experts who put America into space after Sputnik. But the real basis of everything that happened in space, from Russia and the US, was the WW2, liquid-fueled rocket engine technology developed by Nazi engineers like WERNHER VON BRAUN, charismatic and brilliant, and ARTHUR RUDOLPH, and many thousands of other German engineers, scientists, and technicians. Their fantastic achievement was the product of decades of German Faustian idealism as well as the necessities of German defense and survival in WW2.

But HITLER's and HIMMLER's approval of the V-2 development should be appreciated as well. The liquid-fueled rocket was NOT the result of a few lone geniuses working in makeshift facilities in the New Mexico desert, or on Peenemünde. It was the result of a national commitment with vast resources and support from the highest levels—and that included ADOLF HITLER! HITLER could have cancelled such development, for many good reasons, for far more modest technical programs. For that technology alone, Nazi Germany and HITLER deserve the eternal respect, admiration and gratitude of the entire world.

No doubt, if WERNHER VON BRAUN had been given the recognition he deserved after 1970 for his epic achievements, we would be far closer to landing humans on Mars today; we would probably be there already with a thriving research colony! Instead, America has let itself be driven by pathological Jews like Congresswoman ELIZABETH HOLTZMANN (from Brooklyn, of course) to actually expel ARTHUR RUDOLPH (SA and NS party member) from America.

RUDOLPH had been the chief engineer for the production and design of the enormous Saturn 5 rocket which was the largest rocket the US has ever built, 363-feet high, which made all the manned lunar missions possible. Thirteen Saturn 5's were launched successfully; none failed. For that truly fantastic achievement RUDOLPH received the Congressional Medal of Honor for extraordinary services but had to give the medal back after mad-dog Jews went after him. NEAL M. SHER from the OSI branch of the Justice Department forced RUDOLPH to leave the U.S. If VON BRAUN (SS officer and NS party member) had not died as early as he did in 1977, he would have been expelled as well. HOLTZMANN and SHER and many other Jews just like them should be expelled instead. What have they ever contributed? For America's political leaders, however, nothing is more important than those Jewish votes. The Jews must be appeased! Honor, American lives, gratitude, loyalty, the attack on the USS Liberty — all mean nothing if the Jews are unhappy.

See also Operation Paperclip (video).

Shame on America!

America is a kind of luxury, insane asylum for serial mass murderers. The deranged patients are reassured from morning until late at night that they are the “best” and “greatest”—and living in the most perfectly wonderful society that has ever existed. They firmly believe they were the “good guys” (even “the greatest generation” – TOM BROKAW) in World War 2. Even if the holocaust hoax were true, the actual atrocities (including the deliberate and repeated mass incinerations of totally innocent civilians with napalm) committed by the US during WW2, and in Korea, and Vietnam were far worse. If the numbers of innocent people murdered by the Anglo-American terror bombings do not rise to six million, it was NOT for lack of trying. Just what do such cowardly, depraved monsters think they have to be proud of? They live in a world of Hollywood fantasies where whatever bad things may have occurred along the way were morally necessary to achieve “peace and democracy.” They actually believe that!

America is a mentally-deranged nation, a paranoid nation with NO comprehension of world affairs, or history, or cultures—not even its own. Of all the nations on the planet, America has had the least reason to be frightened by events in Europe or elsewhere since it has vast security moats on its west and east and passive neighbors north and south, And yet, it has foolishly meddled again and again into foreign affairs which are of no real interest or importance to the vast majority of its people—unless they can be driven by fantasies of imminent doom and horror.

WW1 and WW2 were wars of aggression against Germany. Although Germany may have technically started WW2, the stage was carefully set by the jealousy of the British and French and even America. It was Hitler who had succeeded in countering the world depression with an economic miracle which has been unmatched in all of human history. The Czechs and Slovaks knew that, as anyone with half a brain in central Europe also knew, and that was why they acquiesced—no shots were fired—when Hitler incorporated those peoples as protectorates into the Reich. But, for the mad-dog anti-Nazis, especially the Jews, the establishment of the protectorate was just one more rallying excuse for another war on Germany.

The Jews and America are a perfect combination. On the one hand, the Jews are possessed by a megalomaniacal vision, given to them by their monster God, to rule the world and fulfill his racist promises to them. On the other hand, the American people are easily the most depraved and stupid creatures anywhere on the planet who will eagerly commit mass murder of millions of others whenever their “freedom” to behave like pigs seems the least bit threatened. The success of the new film “Inglorious Basterds” shows just how thoroughly depraved the American public really is. It also shows just how determined the Jews are to continue their war of extermination against Germany.

Can such depraved monsters possibly understand the well-deserved “meltdown” happening around them today? Of course, not! Can they ever grasp how they are enslaved by Israel and the Jews? No! It was all OK for such a long, long time. America had even persuaded a gullible world to support the American delusion; America had conned most of the world to send America its money long after WW2 and, in effect, kept the biggest Ponzi racket of all time going until very recently. By contrast, BERNIE MADOFF is merely a small-time, grubby Jewish crook who competed to be just like the really big Jews at Goldman Sachs, Citigroup, the Federal Reserve and elsewhere. They are running the country into the ground and getting even richer in the process. American industry has been eviscerated so that American corporations could seem productive based on manufacturing overseas. “Why get your hands dirty when you can simply skim off the profits from the labor of foreigners?” America has embraced the traditional model of Jewish success; just count the money and take a big cut.

Bernard MADOFF’s mistake was that he robbed many prominent Jews. If MADOFF had merely been robbing goyim, he would shine on his own TV show just like JIM CRAMER or LARRY KUDLOW, and be getting taxpayer “bailout money” like the parasites at Goldman Sachs, AIG and Citigroup. Shame on America! Click to enlarge the image to the right. Does anyone

„Der Gott des Juden ist das Geld. Und um Geld zu verdienen, begeht er die größten Verbrechen. Er ruht nicht eher, bis er auf einem großen Geldhaufen liegen kann, bis er zum König des Geldes geworden ist.“

NOT see the resemblance to LLOYD BLANKFEIN from Goldman-Sachs? The satirical image is from Julius Streicher's infamous, anti-Semitic book The Poison Mushroom.. The word “Börse” means: stock exchange. “Geld” is money. If BLANKFEIN put his money into a sack, it would be vastly bigger than the sack in this cartoon. Julius Streicher was convicted as a war criminal at

Nuremberg even though he never held a German government position—but, he did mock the Jews and, therefore, had to be hung.

In one of my opening paragraphs above I wrote: "Holocaust-belief is a form of collective insanity driven by the ravings of unhappy Jews." In a world where the vast majority of people are non-Jews or goyim, any group of people who are as fundamentally racist as the Jews are will always be extremely unhappy and frustrated—and extremely dangerous.

In Defense of Adolf Hitler (video)

Tears in Heaven – A Tribute to Adolf Hitler (video)

The monumental blindness and stupidity, unmatched barbarism and sadism of America and Britain nearly brought a new Dark Age upon a world dominated, not by them, but by the Soviet Union and communism, Although the Nazis and fascists lost the war--their heroic struggle with hardly any resources against overwhelming odds allowed civilization to survive. After 1945, it was the atomic bomb, beyond everything else, which allowed the west to survive---but before that, it was ADOLF HITLER who saved us.

NEW The other Face of Adolf Hitler (video) NEW

According to Sir Arthur Bryant the British historian Unfinished Victory (1940) pp. 136-144:

"It was the Jews with their international affiliations and their hereditary flair for finance who were best able to seize such opportunities. They did so with such effect that, even in November 1938, after five years of anti-Semitic legislation and persecution, they still owned, according to the Times correspondent in Berlin, something like a third of the real property in the Reich. Most of it came into their hands during the inflation. But to those who had lost their all this bewildering transfer seemed a monstrous injustice. After prolonged sufferings they had now been deprived of their last possessions. They saw them pass into the hands of strangers, many of whom had not shared their sacrifices and who cared little or nothing for their national standards and traditions. The Jews obtained a wonderful ascendancy in politics, business and the learned professions (in spite of constituting) less than one percent of the population. The banks, including the Reichsbank and the big private banks, were practically controlled by them. So were the publishing trade, the cinema, the theatres and a large part of the press all the normal means, in fact, by which public opinion in a civilized country is formed. The largest newspaper combine in the country with a daily circulation of four millions was a Jewish monopoly. Every year it became harder and harder for a gentile to gain or keep a foothold in any privileged occupation. At this time it was not the 'Aryans' who exercised racial discrimination. It was a discrimination that operated without violence. It was exercised by a minority against a majority. There was no persecution, only elimination. It was the contrast between the wealth enjoyed and lavishly displayed by aliens of cosmopolitan tastes, and the poverty and misery of native Germans, that has made anti-Semitism so dangerous and ugly a force in the new Europe. Beggars on horseback are seldom popular, least of all with those whom they have just thrown out of the saddle."

Friedrich Paul Berg

contact us by e-mail: hoaxbuster@earthlink.net

Article 19 of the UN Human Rights Charter explicitly states:
"Everyone has the right to freedom of opinion and expression; this right includes freedom to hold opinions without interference and to seek, receive and impart information and ideas through any media and regardless of frontiers.”

Countries in Flagrant Violation of Article 19

But wait, — there's more!

check out: Index Page 2

and: Index Page 3

Links to complete essays by Friedrich Paul Berg:

The Eyewitnesses Lied --Corpses of CO victims are Cherry-pink and NOT Blue or colorless

Diesel Gas Chambers;

Ideal for Torture—Absurd for Murder

Part 1 -- Introduction with Toxicology of CO

Part 2 -- Producer Gas

Part 3 -- Conclusions and Notes

auf Deutsch: Diesel-gaskammern: Mythos im Mythos

Nizkor Lies about the Toxicity of Diesel Exhaust

Self-Assisted Holocaust Hoax.

auf Deutsch: Der selbstassistierte Holocaust-Schwindel

Zyklon-B and the German Delousing Chambers

Typhus and the Jews

Poison Gas Über Alles
auf Deutsch: Giftgas über Alles

Blue Women on the Beach—and the False Toxicity of CO2 in Diesel Exhaust

Gas Chambers for Robert Faurisson

Let's Go West with the Nazis Mass Murderers

Guidelines for Safety with Poison Gas-generating Vehicles

Pat Buchanan and the Diesel Exhaust Controversy

Index Page 2

Index Page 3

Important Essays by other Authors

auf Deutsch: Gasgeneratoren im Krieg und Frieden by Major-General and Undersecretary of State von Schell

Skin discoloration caused by carbon monoxide poisoning – Reality vs. Holocaust

eyewitness testimony by Thomas Kues

Also by Thomas Kues on Carbon Monoxide related Discoloration of Victims

A Critical Review of Father Patrick Desbois' The Holocaust by Bullets by

HerbivorousMoose

CODOH Discussion of Father Patrick Desbois' book and claims

America's Holocaust in Korea

Anna Baltzer and Israel's Colonies

Benjamin Friedman speaks again

Jewish History and Identity according to Schlomo Sand

The above image is from the Textbook of Maritime Medicine . Fig. 10.9.2: Bright red lividity on the dorsal side of the body as the expression of lethal carbon

The following text from Adolf Hitler appears in a German school textbook entitled Die verlorene Insel: Das Gesicht des heutigen Englands. (The Lost Island: The face of today's England) editor unknown, published by Volk und Reich Verlag sometime after December 1940. Hitler's criticism of "democracy" is so timely because of the ongoing world-wide protests today against Wall Street and the powerful 1% over the 99% who are being impoverished and ruined--not even their homes are safe or secure. For those who still cannot read German, learn German or be patient.

DIE ENGLISCHE WELT

„ . . . In dieser englisch-französischen Welt da existiert die sogenannte Demokratie. . . . Es heisst, dass das die Herrschaft des Volkes sei. Nun muss das Volk ja doch irgendeine Möglichkeit besitzen, seinen Gedanken oder seinen Wünschen Ausdruck zu geben. Wenn man sich nun näher dieses Problem ansieht, dann kann man feststellen, dass das Volk an sich primär dort gar keine Überzeugung hat, sondern die Überzeugung selbstverständlich — wie übrigens überall — vorgesetzt erhält. Und das Entscheidende ist nun: Wer setzt diese Überzeugung eines Volkes fest? Wer klärt ein Volk auf, wer bildet ein Volk? In diesen Ländern regiert tatsächlich das Kapital, d.h. es ist eine Schar von einigen hundert Menschen letzten Endes, die im Besitz unermesslicher Vermögen sind und die infolge der eigenartigen Konstruktion des Staatslebens dort mehr oder weniger unabhängig und frei sind. Denn es heisst: ‚Wir haben hier Freiheit‘, und sie meinen damit vor allem freie Wirtschaft, und unter freier Wirtschaft verstehen sie die Freiheit, Kapital nicht nur zu erwerben, sondern vor allem Kapital wieder frei zu verwenden, frei zu sein von jeder staatlichen, d.h. volklichen Aufsicht. Das ist in Wirklichkeit der Begriff ihrer Freiheit . . .“

„... Nun müsste man doch meinen, dass vor allem in diesen Ländern der Freiheit und des Reichtums ein unerhörtes Wohlleben für das Volk bestehen müsste. Es ist aber umgekehrt. In diesen Ländern ist die Not der breiten Massen grösser als irgendwo anders. Da ist dieses reiche England: 40 Millionen Quadratkilometer werden von ihm kontrolliert, 100 Millionen kolonialer Arbeiter mit einem erbärmlichen Lebensstandard in Indien z.B. müssen dafür tätig sein. Man müsste nun meinen, in diesem England selbst da muss dann wenigstens doch jeder einzelne Teilhaber an diesem Reichtum sein. Im Gegenteil: in diesen Ländern ist der Klassenunterschied der krasseste, den man sich denken kann. Armut, unvorstellbare Armut auf der einen Seite und auf der anderen Seite ebenso unvorstellbarer Reichtum. Sie haben nicht ein Problem gelöst! Das sind

Länder, die über die Schätze der Erde verfügen und ihre Arbeiter die hausen in erbärmlichen Löchern, Länder, die über die Bodenschätze der Welt verfügen und die breite Masse ist miserabel gekleidet; Länder, die mehr als genügend an Brot und an alien sonstigen Früchten haben könnten, und Millionen ihrer unteren Schichten haben nicht genug, um sich nur den Magen einmal voll zu füllen, laufen verhungert herum. Leute, die auf der einen Seite es fertigbringen könnten, eine Welt mit Arbeit zu versehen, müssen es erleben, dass sie nicht einmal mit der Erwerbslosigkeit in ihrem eigenen Lande aufräumen können!..."

„... Aber es ist auch verständlich: in diesen Ländern der sogenannten Demokratie wird ja überhaupt gar nicht das Volk in den Mittelpunkt der Betrachtung gerückt. Was entscheidend ist, ist ausschliesslich die Existenz dieser paar Macher der Demokratie, d.h. also die Existenz dieser paar hundert gigantischen Kapitalisten, die im Besitz ihrer Werte und ihrer ganzen Aktien sind und die letzten Endes damit diese Völker ausschliesslich dirigieren. Die breite Masse interessiert sie nicht im geringsten. Die interessiert sie genau wie früher unsere bürgerlichen Parteien nur in der Wahlzeit. Dann brauchen sie. Stimmen. Sonst ist ihnen das Leben der breiten Masse vollkommen gleichgültig ..."

Der Führer in seiner Rede an die deutschen Rüstungsarbeiter am 10. Dezember 1940, nach dem Bericht des „Volkischen Beobachters"

Englands Aufstieg zur Weltmacht begann, als das Reich im Herzen Europas zerfiel und der Kontinent Jahrhunderte hindurch in blutigen Kriegen zerrissen wurde. Während England mit Hilfe seiner Flotte Länder jenseits der Weltmeere auf alien Kontinenten eroberte und Länder mit unerschöpflichen Rohstoffen und Stützpunkte zum britischen Weltreich vereinigte, schürte das Inselreich Hass und Feindschaft zwischen den Völkern und Staaten Europas, spielte ein Volk gegen das andere aus, um sich um so leichter die Vormachtstellung im europäischen Kräftespiel sichern zu können. England hat dabei nie das eigene Leben aufs Spiel gesetzt. Es hat die von ihm heraufbeschworenen Kriege immer durch fremde Völker führen lassen. Während die Völker für britische Interessen verbluteten, erschlich sich die englische Führung ungeheuren Reichtum und baute eine Machtstellung aus, mit deren zweckbewusster Anwendung einem grossen Teil Europas auch das korrupte englische Geistesgut aufgezwungen wurde. Die bequeme Führerstellung des englischen Adels, der mit Handel und Börse, Unternehmertum und Spekulanten auf das engste verwandt und verfilzt war, wurde auch dem eigenen englischen Volk gegenüber zu einem hartnäckig verteidigten Lebensanspruch. In dem kapitalistischen Zeitalter, das die herrschende britische Plutokratenschicht heraufführte, verkümmerte und verrottete der Sinn dafür, dass die Macht eines Weltreichs nur Bann auf die Dauer gehalten werden kann, wenn sie von der Kraft eines jungen, von gemeinsamen Idealen befügelten Volkes genährt wird. Auf der britischen Insel, aus deren Geborgenheit heraus die herrschende Gesellschaftsschicht das grosse Wirtschaftsunternehmen des Weltreiches lenkte und regierte, verfiel zur gleichen Zeit die Fruchtbarkeit des breiten Landes, starb das Bauerntum mehr und mehr aus, bildete sich in den grossen Städten ein Proletariat, das kümmerlicher dahinvegetierte als in allen anderen Ländern des europäischen Festlandes.

Als in der zweiten Hälfte des 19. Jahrhunderts neben England neue Weltmächte heranwuchsen und damit die Alleinherrschaft des britischen Weltreiches in Frage gestellt wurde, verlor die britische Führung bald die Sicherheit des Instinktes, mit dem frühere Generationen das Weltreich aufgebaut hatten. Sie kannte nur noch das eine Ziel, mit allen Mitteln, und sei es auch mit den blutigsten und weltumspannendsten Kriegen, die jemals über die Erde dahingegangen waren, ihre Besitzungen und Stützpunkte und damit ihren Reichtum zu erhalten und zu sichern. Sie gefiel sich in der Rolle des Besitzenden, dessen einziges Ideal der Besitz selbst geworden ist, und sie vergass darüber das eigene Volk und die Völker der Erde, die auf die Dauer nicht gewillt waren, diesem Anspruch ihr Lebensrecht zu opfern.

Die englische Plutokratie hat die Zeichen der Zeit nicht verstanden. Sie will auch heute noch nicht sehen, dass die jungen Völker die Bannerträger der sozialen Zukunft der Menschheit sind. Durch einen neuen Krieg versuchte England, die Verwirklichung der Lebensrechte des deutschen wie des italienischen Volkes zu verhindern, zweier Völker, die nun ihren Existenzkampf mit der Kraft und der Zuversicht des Sieges führen. Die Heere der Achse haben England auf dem Kontinent in gewaltigen Schlachten geschlagen und vom Nordkap bis zur Biscaya eine einzige Front gegen die britische Insel aufgerichtet. In ihrem Schutz reift das neue Europa heran, wächst das Gefühl der Gemeinschaft der europäischen Völker, deren sozialer Gedanke sich deutlich abhebt gegenüber dem Herrschaftsanspruch der britischen Oberschicht. Noch ist der Kampf im vollen Gange, Schlag auf Schlag trifft die britische Insel zu Wasser und aus der Luft. Auf den Schlachtfeldern des Ostens verliert England auch seinen letzten Festlandsdegen. Die deutsche Wehrmacht vernichtet in einem gigantischen Ringen den bolschewistischen Weltfeind, während sich die Herrschaftsschicht des wankenden britischen Weltreiches mit ihm verbündet und verbrüdet und damit ihr wahres Gesicht enthüllt. Unter den militärischen Schlägen im Osten und auf dem Atlantik zerbricht eine morsche, verlogene Welt. England ist eine verlorene Insel. Erschauernd ahnt das verblendete, von seinen Machthabern verführte Volk, dass sich sein Schicksal erfüllt. Während die britische Macht dahinsinkt, erhellt das erste Wetterleuchten eines neuen Jahrtausends europäischer Geschichte den Kontinent.

Die Insel England ist ein von Natur begünstigtes Land. Durch seine Lage am Rande der europäischen Welt und an den Toren zum Atlantischen Weltmeer hat es Jahrhunderte lang eine beherrschende Mittlerrolle gespielt. Die Küsten der Insel sind reich gegliedert und boten Gelegenheit zur Errichtung vortrefflicher Häfen. So wurden die Engländer ein seefahrendes Volk, das aus allen Erdteilen, aus seinen endlosen Besitzungen in Übersee, grosse Schätze heimbrachte und in seiner Inselheimat einen Reichtum hoher alter Kultur in stolzen Städten, herrlichen Bauten, aber auch im Denken und Dichten schuf und erwarb. Handel und Industrie standen bis zum heutigen Tage in Blüte, und in vielen Zweigen der modernen Industrie hatten die Engländer lange Zeit eine führende Stellung.

Und doch ist England ein armes Land! Was nützt dem englischen Volk alter Reichtum, alle Schönheit des Landes, alles Erbe alter Kultur, wenn es in seiner Gesamtheit keinen Anteil daran hat, wenn es geführt und beherrscht wird von einer kleinen Schicht von Menschen, die nur einseitig ihren eigenen unermesslichen Reichtum, ihre Macht und ihr Wohlleben im Auge haben. Ihr hartherziger, egoistischer Herrschaftsanspruch bestimmt das Bild des englischen Landes und Lebens. Es ist das Bild einer versinkenden Welt — der verlorenen Insel.

Die Insel vor Europa

DAS DEUTSCHE ZIEL

„. . . In unseren Augen ist das Gold überhaupt kein Wertfaktor, sondern nur ein Faktor zur Unterdrückung und Beherrschung der Völker. Ich habe, als ich zur Macht kam, nur eine einzige Hoffnung besessen, auf die ich baute: Das war die Tüchtigkeit, die Fähigkeit des deutschen Volkes und des deutschen Arbeiters, die Intelligenz unserer Erfinder, unserer Ingenieure, unserer Techniker und Chemiker und so weiter. Auf die Kraft, die in unserer Wirtschaft lebt, habe ich gebaut. Ich stand vor der einfachen Frage, sollen wir denn zugrunde gehen, weil wir kein Gold haben, soll ich mich an einen Wahn hängen, der uns vernichtet? Ich habe die andere Auffassung vertreten. Wenn wir schon kein Gold haben, dann haben wir die Arbeitskraft. Und die deutsche Arbeitskraft, das ist unser Gold und unser Kapital, und mit diesem Gold schlage ich jede andere Macht der Welt . . .“

„. . . Uns schwebt ein Staat vor, in dem in Zukunft jede Stelle vom fähigsten Sohn unseres Volkes besetzt sein soll, ganz gleichgültig, wo er herkommt. Ein Staat, in dem die Geburt gar nichts ist und Leistung und Können alles! Das ist unser Ideal, für das wir nun arbeiten und für das wir uns mit unserem ganzen Fanatismus einsetzen, es ist für uns, ich darf sagen, dies die schönste Glückseligkeit. Das ist die grösste Freude auf dieser Welt, die uns gegeben werden könnte . . .“

„. . . Ich habe den Ehrgeiz, das deutsche Volk reich, das deutsche Land schön zu machen. Ich möchte, dass der Lebensstandard des Einzelnen gehoben wird. Ich möchte, dass wir die schönste und beste Kultur bekommen. Ich möchte, dass das Theater für das ganze Volk und nicht nur für die oberen Zehntausend, wie in England, da ist und überhaupt die ganze deutsche Kultur dem Volke zugute kommt ...“

„. . . Wenn dieser Krieg abgeschlossen sein wird, dann soll in Deutschland ein grosses Schaffen beginnen, dann wird ein grosses ‚Wacht auf!‘ durch die deutschen Lande ertönen. Dann wird das deutsche Volk die Fabrikation der Kanonen einstellen und wird

dann beginnen mit den Werken des Friedens und der neuen Aufbauarbeit für die Millionenmassen! Dann werden wir erst der Welt zeigen, was in Wirklichkeit der Herr ist und wer der Herr ist: Kapital oder Arbeit! Und dann wird aus dieser Arbeit jenes grosse deutsche Reich erstehen, von dem einst ein grosser Dichter träumte. Es wird das Deutschland sein, dem jeder Sohn mit fanatischer Liebe anhängt, weil es auch für den Ärmsten die Heimat sein wird . . .“

Der Führer in seiner Rede an die deutschen Rüstungsarbeiter am 10. Dezember 1940, nach dem Bericht des „Völkischen Beobachters“